JESD 'Gag Rule' May Be in Conflict With DA's Opinion

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Certain portions of a new policy governing conduct of citizens attending Board meetings in the Jefferson Elementary School District appear to be in conflict with an opinion issued by the San Mateo County District Attorney's Office, The Post has learned.

The prior opinion, issued in August, concerns district rules and regulations in connection with trustee meetings within the Sequoia Union High School District. It was written by Deputy District Attorney L. M. Summey.

Summey informed Dr. George Chaffey, district superintendent of Sequoia, that rule 3.2, providing for the taking up of items off the agenda "with the implication that action might be taken thereon at the same meeting" was in conflict with a recent court decision (Carlson Vs. Paradise School District 95 Cal. Rep. 650).

"In our opinion no action should be taken on any matters not included in a posted and noticed Board agenda. If the subject matter requires emergency action, it should be made the subject of a special meeting duly noticed which you would undoubtedly want to call for the earliest possible date," Summey said.

Properly, items can be discussed for the "good and welfare" of the district, but action should be deferred, Summey explained to Dr. Chaffey.

The newly-adopted (in a split 3-2 vote) policy in the JESD notes that "only items on the approved agenda shall be discussed or acted upon unless the board by majority action agrees to place additional items on the agenda at the request of the superintendent or Board member.

"Such additions shall be limited to matters on which action must be taken prior to the next regular Board meeting," the policy states.

But what concerns some persons, particularly the two trustees who voiced opposition to the measure, is that while discussing the purchase of a $100 adding machine, as an example, a majority of the Board may decide to take up the purchase of an $8,000 sprinkler system.

Both trustees Dorothy Adams and Beverly Forrester opposed passage of what was labeled "a gag rule" by one citizen.

Mrs. Adams felt the right of citizens to speak out at public meetings was guaranteed under the First and 14th Amendments to the Constitution.

During discussion on the policy, passed by trustees Edward Tomasello, Albert Collet and James Cranna, Mrs. Forrester asked if there were any legal questions outstanding.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood caustically responded, "I'm sure you'll think of some!"

Greenwood assured the Board the policy had been examined by D. A. Summey and found to be acceptable.

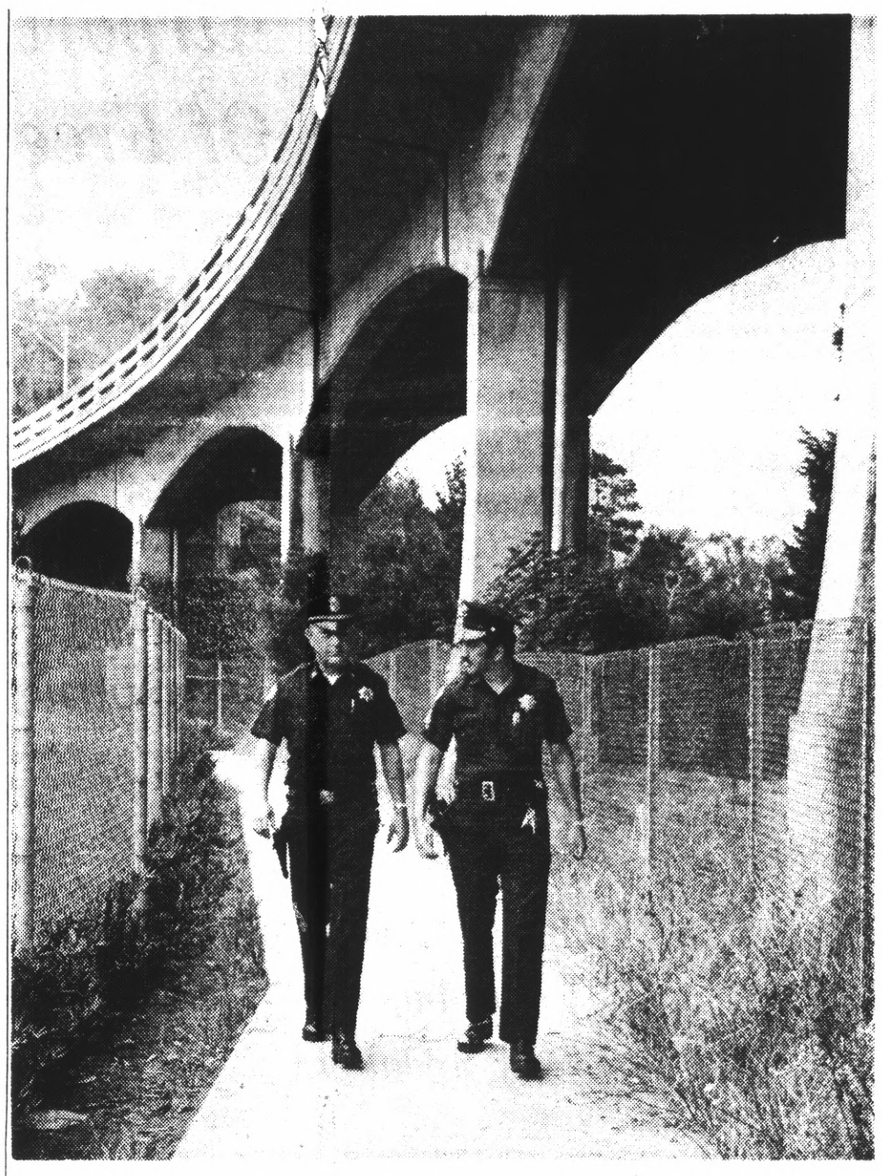
Contacted by this newspaper, Summey said the matter had only briefly been discussed with Greenwood on the telephone and he had not been given the opportunity, as yet, to go over the written policy. He did not know it had been adopted at a regular board meeting on September 6, 1972.

Summey said he would arrange to discuss the new policy with superintendent Greenwood.

The intent of the policy, according to its supporters, is to bring order to meetings. In the past, they claim, persons in the audience hurled charges at individuals within the district and, in some cases, disrupted meetings.

Under the new rules such conduct has been curtailed and citizens must confine discussion to items under consideration by the Board.

Criticism of individuals is taboo. During talks where a large contingent of citizens desire to speak, time limits will be set.



SECURITY FENCE — At the urging of Daly City police captain David Hansen and Sergeant Ed Guzman the city has installed a chain link fence at a cost of some $3000 along a lonely path between Alemany and Junipero Serra Boulevards. The path has been the scene of many assaults in recent years, with unescorted women being victimized in broad daylight by men jumping from bushes bordering the San Francisco Golf Course. Police think the fence, installed by Cyclone Fence Company, will stop these attacks. (Post Photo By George Brooke)

Colma Councilman Is Charged for 13 Unreported Sewer Connections

Sewer connection charges amounting to some $8840 have been levied against Colma councilman Raymond Ottoboni by the North San Mateo County Sanitation District Board of Directors.

The charges were based on a report by sanitation district consultant Robert Bernicchi and manager Dave Gehre which disclosed the councilman had 13 additional connections on property he owned in Colma that had never been reported to the district.

In an unanimous motion the three member Board of Directors voted to demand payments on the additional connections retroactive to nine years ago.

A breakdown of charges disclosed $1950 were for connection fees (13 at $150); penalty connection fees for not reporting the matter to the district (13 at $150); inspection fees (13 at $10); penalties (13 at $100); and sewer service charges at $30 per year for the past nine years.

Representing Ottoboni at Monday's meeting of the district in Daly City was Colma city engineer Edward Smith.

Smith said Ottoboni was appealing the charges. He said the councilman and former mayor now knew he must pay "some charges."

Ottoboni was unaware he was reuired to report the connections inasmuch as the installation was done on a local level, the Board was told.

Director Bernard Lycett, also mayor of Daly City, said it was "hard for me to believe" that "anyone as close to city government as (Ottoboni) didn't know he was required to pay the charges."

Lycett also wanted to know why the city engineer and not Ottoboni, made the appeal before the district for a continuance of the hearing.

Smith said Ottoboni would attend the next meeting set for October 20 at 1 p.m. in the district offices on Lake Merced Boulevard.

Backing the staff's recommendations that sewer charges span the past nine years, director James V. Fitzgerald, said Ottoboni should "pay for services provided him." He was referring to total payment for the councilman's 27 connections on properties he owns.

North County Jet Noise

Hope Held for Solving the Problem

Hope was held this week for a new reduction of jet noise over South San Francisco and San Bruno—as a new upsurge of complaints over jet noise was heard.

Meanwhile, the South San Francisco City Council, Monday night, took its own action to cut down the roar of the giant jets overhead.

The hope lay in a new procedure for the "shoreline departure" takeoff routing. The "shoreline departure" routing was first announced at last June's San Bruno Chamber of Commerce Aviation Appreciation flight. This routing was to be used, whenever possible, when jets had to take off from Runways 28 toward the two cities, instead of from preferential Runway 1, over the bay. Jets were supposed to make a sharp right turn, over Bayshore Freeway and Candlestick Park, instead of making their gradual rise over the two cities.

The new procedure was announced by Norman E. Merkel, chief of the San Francisco Tower, effective October 2.

Major change shall be that the "shoreline departure" will be assigned by the tower, instead of being requested by the pilot. The pilot may still refuse the right turn if he deems it unsatisfactory for reasons of safety.

The second change is that the weather minimum in which the "shoreline departure" is made have been lowered. The new procedure, according to Merkel, may be assigned when the ceiling (bottom of the cloud layer) is at or above 2000 feet for turbojets and 1500 feet for other aircraft, and when the pilot can see for at least three miles—with five miles being the minimum to the west and northwest. In addition, the eastern portion of San Bruno Mountain must be visible, allowing the pilots to make their turn east of the mountain.

Markel noted that not only will this procedure provide significant noise relief to local cities, but it also means shorter routing to their destination for aircraft capable of making the right turn east of Mt. San Bruno.

Maurice A. Garbell, noise-pollution consultant for the City of South San Francisco, noted that about a third of all departures from San Francisco Airport take off from Runway 28. He estimates that about a fourth to a third of that number, or about 8 to 10 per cent of all takeoffs should be able to use the revised "shoreline departure" and bring local relief.

Meanwhile, at Garbell's recommendation, the city adopted a resolution urging the application of new, stricter noise standards to newly produced air-

Three Firms Appear at Meeting About Plunge

A joint meeting of the Jefferson Union High School District and Daly City city council was again held Monday to discuss construction of a swim pool at Westmoor High School.

Talks between the two agencies on the subject have been going on for some seven years. Last year these talks fell apart when construction bids for the indoor pool reflected a cost that was double what both the district and city had agreed upon for the facility.

Several weeks ago talks were revitalized and since that time four architectural and engineering firms have been contacted and submitted proposals on the pool.

Earlier, architect John Levikow, architect on the Orange Park indoor pool in South San Francisco, appeared before a joint session of the two bodies.

Levikow told how he might combine his knowledge of pool building with plans drawn up by the previous architect, Zavin Tatarian, and thus hold costs to a minimum.

The figure presented to the council was some $700,000 — within the budget figure agreed upon by the city and school district.

Monday, three more firms appeared before the city and school district to present their views on the Westmoor Pool.

The three firms included Milton F. Johnson, Corwin-Boot and Kirker-Chapman Associates.

Each proposal covered primarily the same subjects: agreeing to work closely with the city and school district, and experience in pool building.

William Chapman, of Kirker-Chapman, however, not only made all the usual promises, but offered to build the pool for some $655,000 — some $50,000 below other firms interested in the contract.

Chapman, former Daly City city engineer, pointed up his years of experience in the area and some of the structures his firm has participated in.

The school district and city was expected to study all proposals and hold another joint meeting within two weeks to choose an architect for the project.

Conditional Approval To Apartment Complex Illegal Closed Meet?

After a marathon five-hour discussion, including a questionable executive personnel session, San Bruno's planning commissioners on Monday approved with 21 conditions the continued planned development of the controversial Crystal Springs Terrace.

Late in the evening it became obvious that the commissioners were hard-pressed to make a decision on further restrictions to place on Samson, Inc., the development firm that took over when original developer Walter Beeson went bankrupt.

The commissioners already had unanimously voted to allow only 430 units, after Brennan Newson, attorney for Samson, pointed out that 437 building permits already had been issued.

But commissioners were stymied on whether to retain certain buildings and reduce the unit numbers in them, change building sizes and locations, or eliminate buildings, among several options to reduce density.

While the commissioners were inaudibly discussing among themselves these options, Newson was commenting that he was contemplating withdrawing his request and would go back to Beeson's original and by now mixed-up and undesired agreement with the city.

At this point Assistant City Attorney Dermot Fitzgerald announced that he was going to make an unprecedent move, and asked for what he called an executive personnel session.

Chairman Girvin Whitney called for a five-minute recess, and the commissioners went into the caucus room with the assistant city attorney.

A Times reporter questioning the "executive session" as it related to the "secret meeting" aspects of the Ralph M. Brown Act was told by Planning Director Jack Mulqueeney that the attorney wanted to discuss a legal point."

Under the Brown Act a public body can meet in executive session only for the purpose of discussing personnel or litigation, neither of which appeared to apply in this case.

After the session the commissioners returned to methodically move, second and unanimously vote that Building O would be

Peninsula Truck Theft Suspects Held

South San Francisco and Burlingame police reported Monday the arrest of three men involved in $97,000 worth of truck-trailer thefts in their two cities.

Arrested in Los Angeles and charged with grand theft were Gerald Weiner, 30, North Hollywood; Cary Keith Yago, 29, North Hollywood, and John Henry Jackson, 34, Granada Hills.

According to South San Francisco police, the trailer, containing $75,000 worth of automotive and diesel replacement parts, was stolen from the Robert Bosch Corp. at 345 E. Grand Avenue, South San Francisco. A few days later, the missing trailer was found in San Jose — abandoned and empty.

On August 19, a trailer containing such items as sports clothing and office machinery, was stolen from Arrow Freight Forwarding Co. on Rollins Road in Burlingame. It too was later found in San Jose—abandoned and empty.

An intensive investigation to locate the property has been conducted by South San Francisco Detectives Miff Singleton and Pat Sullivan, Burlingame Inspector James O'Brien, and various federal, state and other law enforcement agencies. Their investigation, according to police, led to the arrest and to recovery of more than 90 per cent of the stolen property.

Spay, Neuter Clinic Will Become Reality

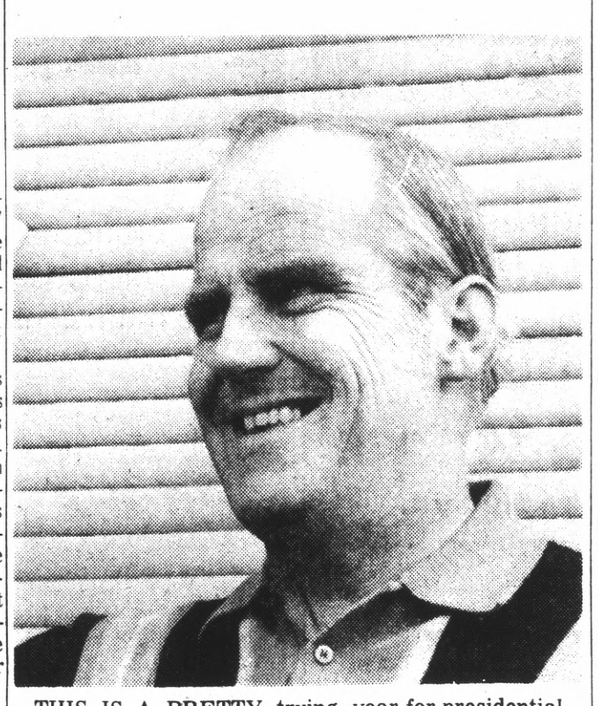
The Peninsula Humane Society recently submitted plans and cost estimates for its low-cost spay and neuter clinic to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors. When approved, the clinic will be constructed at the Society's Coyote Point Shelter. Present office space will be converted into a spay-neuter clinic in order to effect the earliest opening date possible, according to Society General Manager Russ Turver.

The new low-cost clinic is expected to open January 1. Plans call for a staff of one veterinarian and two assistants. Proposed fees to be charged are $20 for the spay operation and $12.50 for neutering. Because it will be vital to the continuation of the clinic, only healthy dogs and cats can be handled by the Society; more difficult spays will have to be done by private veterinarians.

"County Supervisors are providing $40,000 to cover construction and equipment costs needed to begin the clinic, and we expect the clinic to be on a self-supporting basis within a year," Turver commented. "We are confident that the clinic will help us relieve the needless suffering and death of many animals because they simply can't find homes."

Animal population growth has increased to a point of serious concern in San Mateo County as it has throughout the nation. Statistics show that only one in eight newborn puppies and kittens find a home in today's world. Numbers of animals handled at the Peninsula Humane Society's shelters have increased at a rate of 15 per cent a year as compared to the human population increase in the county which is at about ½ per cent a year.

"Humane consideration dictates the need for a positive program to limit further births of unwanted animals," Turver continued. "Now with widespread community interest and the County's support, we hope to alleviate the problem."



THIS IS A PRETTY trying year for presidential candidate look-alike Robert Pinomaki of Daly City. Folks don't want to believe he isn't George McGovern. Seems whereever George (we mean Robert) goes, people want to believe he's somebody else. Robert, of 97 Forest Grove, doesn't want to think what will happen to his life if McGovern is elected. # Rats Worry S.S.F. Residents

A group of Sunshine Garden residents appeared at Monday night's meeting of the South San Francisco City Council and demanded that they do something about an outbreak of rats before they bite a child.

Larry Ross, acting city manager in absence Monday night of Gale Dreisbach, offered to supply "child-safe" rat poison if the residents cooperate.

Joe Lewkowitz of Holly Avenue, held up a paper bag with rats he caught in his bedroom over the weekend.

"So far, I've caught 19 in the last two months."

He noted his concern for his five children, as well as his wife "who is pretty upset."

Also complaining were his neighbors, Marcel Campredon and Hank Della.

Ross reported that he had conferred with the County Health Department on their procedure in such situations. These rats were known as roof rats, who appear every few years in most cities. He offered to supply each resident with five bars of bait, which can be nailed up to fences. The bait, if used properly, is not dangerous to children or animals—just to rats. In order to be effective, however, they must be put up by every home in the infected area—and he appealed for cooperation from the three men in helping to survey their neighbors.

Airport Refuses Offer Of Free Ceramic Tile

Opposing installation of carpet on passenger terminal floors at San Francisco International Airport, the Northern California Ceramic Tile Industry has made the airport an offer it can refuse.

In fact, airport officials have refused the offer, according to the Tile Association.

The offer included a promise of free installation of tile floors, and a telephone conference call between members of the San Francisco Airports Commission and officials at other U.S., European, and Canadian airports who may have experience with tile floors, according to Myles & Associates of San Rafael, spokesmen for the Tile Association.

The association's offer was made after public discussion of the airport commission's decision to install carpet, instead of terrazzo tile in the new north terminal building, and to consider carpets for the older buildings later.

According to Myles & Associates, the Association also provided information on "tile versus carpet" experience at airports, shopping centers, sidewalks, sport forums, military installations, and restaurants.

Dick Newport, secretary to the airports commission, said an offer had been received, for a free installation "test installation," and for a telephone conference call.

He said the ceramic tile industry had been informed that the commission is not interested in a telephone conference call, but would consider a possible test installation. The tile association is to be advised of any decision regarding such an installation, he said.

"The airlines asked for carpet," he said, "and I don't think we'll back away from the policy of giving them carpet if that's what they want."

Brisbane Airport Delay Seen

Brisbane may be on the way to becoming an aviation center, but that day has not yet arrived.

With approval last week of STOL AIR incorporated's airport at Brisbane, and simultaneous announcement that the little airline would start flights from Santa Rosa to San Francisco, some people expected daily flights to airline traffic at Brisbane.

Actually, explains STOL AIR President William Connolly in San Rafael, two things are happening at once.

STOL AIR won approval of the FAA to use its airport site at Brisbane, for whatever uses it desires so long as air traffic does not interfere with jets over nearby San Francisco International.

Connolly says his company operates a subsidiary, Golden Gate Tours, which conducts aerial visits to various parts of California. Golden Gate is expected to operate these tours from the Brisbane airstrip, when local use permits, and a state airport permit, are obtained.

Just when these permits might be obtained, Connolly wouldn't attempt to guess.

There must also be some surfacing work at the site, located west of Candlestick causeway, and just off the new Candlestick overpass.

At almost the same time STOL AIR won the FAA approval to use its Brisbane airstrip, the company was also given California Public Utilities Commission approval to begin air service between Santa Rosa and San Francisco International Airport. That service is in operation.

STOL AIR has been in business about two years, and operates three other private landing strips in California. One of these is at San Simeon, which gives STOL AIR an exclusive air-tour of the Hearst Castle.

The company uses a British aircraft, the Britten-Norman Islander, which is specially designed for "short-take-off-landing" operations.

Stol-flight requires an aircraft to be able to take off, or land, on an airstrip much shorter than required for regular planes. To accomplish this, designers have created special wings and controls, and other devices to allow safe flight at slow airspeeds.

STOL AIR last year operated an experimental San Francisco-to-Sacramento airline, using its "Islanders" to take off from Candlestick Stadium's parking lot, and landing on the Cal Expo grounds. That month-long experiment was set up by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and a sub-group known as Nor Cal Stol.

Connolly emphasized that his company is not connected to, or related with, Nor Cal Stol, but only worked for them.

Added Study On San Bruno Stop Signs

San Bruno council recently referred a recommendation for installation of stop signs on Crestmoor Drive at Bennington Drive back to the Traffic Safety Commission for further study.

The referral was prompted by remarks from Police Lt. Jim Rego that such installation could possibly cause "rear-end" accidents.

Charles Mahnken, of 3081 Crestmoor Drive, representing 25 residents in the area said he favored the stop sign recommendation of the Traffic Safety Committee.

Mahnken further suggested that a sign be placed approximately 180 feet before the intersection saying "stop ahead" to notify motorists that a stop sign is ahead.

He presented the council with a pictorial display showing the results of several accidents in the area, one of which included his parked car being struck.

Councilman John Barnard made another suggestion that will be studied: to move the crosswalks to the tops of the hill, eliminating the need for children to cross the street at the bottom of a "blind" hill.

In other council business Monday night, the council denied an appeal for a variance at 730 First Avenue for a setback and parking spaces.

Pacifica Boy, 8, Hurt

An 8-year-old Pacifica boy is reported in satisfactory condition at Mary's Help Hospital, in Daly City, following injuries incurred when he ran into a car while dashing across the street near his home in Pacifica.

Hospitalized with head injuries is Mitchell E. Ruiz, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Ruiz, 576 Inverness Drive, Pacifica. According to Pacifica police, the boy ran across the street from behind a parked car and into the car of William Adams, 46, 1244 Seville Drive headed north on Inverness.

The boy was rushed by ambulance to Mary's Help where he was admitted for treatment of head injuries.

planes of older type designs. These standards call for noise levels at least 10 decibels lower than those currently required in current Federal Aviation Regulations.

Councilmen noted that "production techniques is available at reasonable cost to achieve the currently prime noise reduction."

Councilmen were in a fighting mood Monday night for action against noise.

"Last Saturday and Sunday," Councilman Warren Steinkamp noted, "this city was subjected to its most severe punishment yet."

He asked for a resolution condemning the airport.

Mayor Frank Mammini noted that San Francisco's supervisors this week are trying to work out a law against noise from trucks and other street sources.

"They think that noise is a big problem only when it is in their city," he noted.

As soon as San Francisco passes its anti-noise ordinance, he vowed, "I will seek an audience with Alioto . . . He takes care of his people. What about ours?"

Councilman Pat Ahern, formerly mayor, warned that "I invited him down here six years ago. He never came."

5 Hurt in Three Weekend Accidents

Three accidents, two involving drunken drivers, injured five persons over the weekend, California Highway Patrolmen reported this morning.

The two drivers charged with intoxication were the most seriously injured, according to officers.

In the intensive care unit of Mary's Help Hospital and charged with drunken driving after an accident on Cabrillo Highway is Charles R. Conley, 35, of 1 Salada Court, Pacifica.

Officer Jan L. Benton, who said he was unable to question Conley because of his condition, cited him for drunken driving. A following motorist on Cabrillo Highway reported Conley had several close calls when he passed over the center line several times.

Also arrested after he was placed in the intensive care unit of Chope Community Hospital in San Mateo was Elven Jackson, 20, of Oakland, who was involved in an accident on the Bayshore Freeway south of Third Avenue in San Mateo last night.

The driver of the other car, Paula Marie Montgomery, 17, of 22 Pepper Lane, San Carlos, said she was southbound when Jackson passed her on the right shoulder, hit the side of her car, sped away but lost control and hit the center divider strip, tearing out 75 feet of guardrail.

Four persons were injured Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Cabrillo Highway and La Honda Road when a car driven by Melvin W. Johnson, 34, of Fresno, was struck broadside by a southbound vehicle driven by Melvin W. Richard T. Molahan Jr., 20, of Reno, Nev., as Johnson was making a left turn.

Molahan was taken to Chope Community Hospital in San Mateo with a fractured right leg, severe abrasions and a wound at the corner of his right eye.

Also injured but less seriously were Johnson and two passengers in his car, Margaret J. Strnge, 45, and her daughter Marjorie, 10, of Palo Alto, who were taken to the Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Redwood City. Johnson was taken to Sequoia Hospital.

Holdup at Store

Two men armed with .38 caliber pistols about 6 p.m., Wednesday, held up two clerks in a San Bruno 7-11 Market, escaping with an undetermined amount of cash.

The robbers were both described as being "very nervous" and about 22-to-25 years old. Both wore Levis. One was said to be about 5-6 and 135 pounds, the other about 5-10 and 150 pounds. They were last seen leaving the store on foot.

According to police, two men, meeting the description of the robbers, had entered the store about ½-hour before the robbery.

They purchased two red apples, two quarts of milk and a package of gum, then left, police said.

In addition, according to police, a man, with features similar to one of the robbers, about 1½ hours before the robbery purchased two money orders, one for $100, the other for $50.

The two robbers walked into the store, police said, and held clerks Karin Lee Peterson, 19, and Pamella Ann Pitts, 27, at gunpoint, and demanded currency only.

Police said Miss Peterson took the money out of the cash register and placed it in a paper bag.

Drug Use Decline in S.S.F. Reported

A decline in drug usage in South San Francisco, during the past year, was cited by Tony Smith, South San Francisco Police Narcotics office, in an address to the South San Francisco Kiwanis Club.

Smith attributed the decline to the excellent program in drug education fostered by the South San Francisco schools, which was aided by the Kiwanis Club in its emphasis on drugs program.

However, he saw a threat of a possible rising crime rate because new tough anti-crime measures in San Francisco appeared to be driving the criminal elements down to the Peninsula.

The drug abuse problem is still a very serious problem in South San Francisco, Officer Smith emphasized.

Detailing the South City drug scene, Smith noted that:

—All doctors agree, whether for or against legalization of marijuana, that marijuana manufactured with a high degree of potency, is harmful.

—Marijuana currently used in California has less than one per cent THC and thus does not have any biological affect upon its user. The effect is appears to have is psycholegical: users want to get high so they get high. To have an effect, it must have over two per cent THC content, as hashish has.

—Heroin is currently doing the most harm, causing the most addiction and killing the most people.

—Use of prescription pills is growing fast and is extremely hard to control, since they can be found in so many medicine chests.

—Introduction of mini-bennies (miniature benzedrine tablets) is causing a threat because users think they must take an increased amount to obtain he LSD.

same effect as a normal size benny. Actually, the miniature tablet contains the same amount of the drug as a full-size one.

—LSD continues to cause a threat to youngsters, because of the ever present danger of "bad trips."

Officer Smith cited the case of one clean-cut South San Francisco youth who became involved in the drug scene to the extent of dealing with drugs, and has lost his mind because of

Pretty Girl Sought In Check Fraud

A girl passing counterfeit travelers checks is being sought by Burlingame police, and other North County officers.

In Burlingame, she passed two $100 Bank of America travelers checks Sunday afternoon, earning more than $80 in each of two similar operations.

Police said she passed checks at the Hyatt House and at the Ramada Inn, during the early morning hours.

Night clerks at each hotel said the pretty girl entered alone, asked for a room, paid with a Bank of America travelers check, took her change and walked out, saying:

"I'll be right back."

When she did not return, clerks examined the checks they had been given, found irregularities in the signature and called police.

Officers said they were also warned that a girl matching the same description and also using the name Margaret Johnston had been operating in other North County cities.

She was described as a young black woman, 23 to 28, about 5-feet, six inches tall, with an Afro hair-do, wearing a brown maxi-coat and carrying a satchel-type purse of Mexican design.

Desk clerks described her as either "very pretty," or "very sexy."

Blood Drive In Daly City

The city of Daly City, in cooperation with the Peninsula Blood Bank is sponsoring a blood drive September 21 at the Civic Center.

A spokesman for the municipality said the campaign would be held in the police department's basement area, from 3 to 7 p.m.

The purpose of the drive is to obtain blood for the Peninsula Blood Bank and the account of Craig Eichner, 14-year-old son of city worker Tom Eicher, who has a rare blood disease.

A police officer's son recently required blood during open heart surgery, and is recovering.

Details may be obtained from Anne Dissing, City Manager David Rowe's secretary.

Bruno Councilman Lectures Park Commission on Duties

San Bruno Councilman Neil Christal Wednesday gave the city's parks and recration commissioners an unscheduled, and impromptu, lesson on the commission's reason for existing Christal's lecture interrupted a discussion on what to do about a city teen center, during a scheduled joint meeting of the city's two bodies.

He said he objected to the commissioners' trying to get council members "involved in the spade work" for which the commission is responsible.

"I think that I, and all members of the council, should walk out and let you (commissioners) thrash this out," said Christal.

"You're not to give us this background. It'si mproper for us (council) to be here. You're really asking for feedback, through facial expressions, comment and attitude.

"This is improper. You are becoming a rubber stamp of the council. You are supposed to be independent," said Christal. He said it was the duty of the commissioners to "investigate" and then report back to the council. "The city code (which Christal read) says that the commissioners make recommendations. It is not to receive direction."

According to Christal, the discussion was "clouding with superfluous evidence" any future decision by the council.

Christal suggested that the commissioners, like the planning commissioners, prepare a "findings of fact" to go along with their recommendation. He said it was okay to discuss past history and any existing documents, but when discussing the future "you are coming on real strong."

Christal said the "spade work" (rehashing the issue) should have been done beforehand, "or why have a commission?" He said if there is a problem the commission is not capable of solving it should be "kicked back to the council."

Councilman John Barnard earlier had refused to comment on the discussion, saying he would prefer to make his remarks during a council meeting because what he said at this meeting might prejudice his vote.

Councilwoman Margaret Kozkowski, however, took issue with Christal's remarks, saying he "followed the book" too much.

"I almost apologize to this commission," she said. "We're only invited as guests. If we don't know the heartbeat of the city, it's time we find out, and we can't find out on San Mateo Avenue (where Christal has law offices)."

She said that type of meeting was important. "It's time we had an exchange of ideas," she said.

Commissioner David Nigel, who originally had asked the council for feedback, later said Christal's remarks, and the reading of the city code outlining the commission's boundaries, "gave me, personally, a lot of direction."

Officer Foils Kidnap, Rape Of Girl, 18

A police patrolman on Friday prevented the rape in a remote region of Daly City of a kidnapped 18-year-old Presidio of San Francisco divorcee.

Officer Ken Cole was patrolling the Palomar Stables area of western Daly City when he noticed a car driving into the normally deserted horse-riding compound, police said.

He doubled back to warn the occupants in the car about the hazards of parking in such a remote area.

Cole then learned from a young woman in the car that she had been kidnapped from Geary Boulevard in San Francisco where she had gone to a store for some late shopping and forced at gunpoint to drive to the Daly City area, according to the police.

The woman told Daly City authorities that she had come out of the store, got in her car and that a man suddenly had appeared, getting in the vehicle on the passenger side.

Taken into custody was Joseph C. Gregory, 25, of 201 14th Ave., San Francisco.

Police said the weapon was found beneath the front seat of the car.

Assistant Manager Resigns

S.S.F. City Employes Quit Jobs

By BOB PETERSON

Count off number 18 in the growing list of South San Francisco employes leaving that city's employ since the advent of VTN.

The latest is Larry Ross, 40, co-director of the three-month-old Department of Ecological Development (DED). He has 15 years' service with the city.

Ross is probably better known as South San Francisco's assistant city manager, and ersatz city manager, who city officials went to on the numerous occasions they had trouble keeping that top administrative post filled. Ross kept the city functioning.

He was made co-director to DED's Fred Hull, an executive with the outside consultant firm that has taken over operation of the city's public works and parks and recreation departments, apparently to pacify disgruntled employes.

When it was apparent VTN would be in charge, with the elimination of the city's engineering department, employes threatened strike. They failed to follow through.

However, employes, including those in the engineering department forced out, have been leving the city in droves.

This past Monday Landscape Specialist Ed Petersen resigned with a scathing letter denouncing the entire VTN operation. Ross offered no comment on VTN.

The consultant firm, which has promised to save the city upwards of $400,000 annually, has been under fire to show how it intends to do so.

One way it plans to do so is to freeze hirings. In the case of Ross, the city would save $1687-a-month in salary.

Ross said he is "seriously considering" accepting an administrative management position with the East Bay city of Fremont Police Department.

The position Ross refers to is that of administrative assistant to Police Chief John Fabbri, formerly Police Chief at South San Francisco. The position pays $1425-a-month. Duties consist of general administrative work, including working on the department's budget and working with statistical data.

Ross has extensive police department experience, having worked under then-chief Fabbri as a police technician for 10 years before moving over to city hall.

He was instrumental in setting up the South San Francisco Department's first crime laboratory and identification facility. Ross also testified over 400 times, and is considered an expert witness in criminal cases.

Petersen, landscape specialist, resigned on the grounds that the new administrative philosophy is opposed to his philosophy of good government.

He claimed that VTN has refused to cope with the everyday engineering problems that arise in a city. He asked Hull, director of public works, "where or to whom do I go to get answers to engineering questions that continually arise during the plan review processes? You? The VTN engineers? What's the procedure?" Hull's reply, he alleged, was to cross out the offending questions.

Regarding a proposed public stairway in Westborough 4A, he asked Hull for his engineer's opinion of the stairway layout and grading plan. He claims his reply was, "What is yours?"

He charged that at a recent Parks and Recreation Commission meeting, an application for a permit to use Orange Memorial Park for a rally was misplaced, and no one could even recall the group's name or knew of its affiliations. Since the commission had to make a decision about a group of which it knew nothing, they turned it down.

Petersen asked if the parks and recreation department should be headed by an engineer. He cited the former director, Robert Maxey, who had a master's degree in recreation. Hull's liaison man for the divisions of parks, recreation, and landscape, he said, has only a B.A. and only part-time previous experience in the field.

The retiring landscape expert charged that the administration does not have the support "of its underlings." City employes fear for their jobs, wondering "who's job will be contracted out next?" Rumors sweep the entire city staff, he claimed, and the top qualified staff members are looking for jobs in more secure cities.

The alleged savings in taxes, he claimed, are illusionary. Taxes are saved by workers being fired and needed positions not being filled.

His leaving, he concluded, leaves the city without a landscape specialist, and no one on its staff capable of providing landscape architectural services in a professional capacity.

Bruno Teen Center May Rise Again

By BOB PETERSON

San Bruno's parks and recreation commissioners are suffering the pains of rebirth of the city's teen center at Earl Avenue and Sneath Lane.

There is apparently even an effort to change the name. "It's a youth center, not teen center," emphasized Commission Chairwoman Polly Sandkulla, implying the word "teen" has some distasteful juvenile connotation.

Commissioner Henry Siddall gave a report on the woes of the teen center during a joint meeting of the commissioners and the council Wednesday night.

But desired feedback from the council fizzled when Councilman Neil Christal cut off discussion by saying the commissioners should give a formal presentation at a council meeting.

Mrs. Sandkulla promised that such a report would be made as soon as possible and said, "If we (the commission) embarrassed the council, I'm sorry. But we represent you to the community."

She said that since the commission is the "middle-man," with residents on one side and council on the other it was only reasonable to get "a sharing of feeling" from the council.

As to the center, Siddall's report indicated that the reason the center failed on its first go-round was because it operated on a volunteer staff basis. It was staffed by volunteers who were mothers of the youths attending the center, and when the youths outgrew the center the volunteers faded from the scene. The center has been closed for approximately a year.

Siddall said he wanted the commission to recommend to the council that the city hire two part-time staff members for the center.

The commissioner, in all, outlined four specific problem areas, and gave suggested solutions. Staffing was the first of these. "Volunteers are not reliable," said Siddall.

He suggested that the part-time staff work a maximum of 19 hours each a week, and that they be no older than 21.

This age limit is related to what Siddall outlined as problem number two; youths are unable to relate to those in charge. Part of the second problem, according to Siddall, is also that there were planned activities.

"They (youths) should feel at home," said Siddall, pointing out that the youths are not relaxed under strict rules and with an adult hovering over them. He said that for this reason attendance went down.

And for this reason he suggested that staff "should not be over 21." According to Siddall the staff members should be liberal enough to relate and conservative enough to control any situation from getting out of hand.

A third problem listed by Siddall was the poor condition of the furniture in the center. He said there also was a need for a small library and perhaps some games, such as chess.

Siddall's suggested solution for replacing the furniture was to contact stores, such as Sears at Tanforan, and ask their help for "in-kind" replacement.

The commissioner said he received an encouraging response from Sears Manager Bill Walsh, and that Tanforan Promotion Director Don Frate was working closely on it. Siddall said he also has a meeting scheduled with Bill Voorhees, manager of the new Emporium at Tanforan.

In addition, according to Siddall, the Hilltop Garden Club has volunteered to create and maintain a Japanese-style landscaped garden for the center — if the city would supply the "minimum" in materials.

Barry Newton, Crestmoor High School senior and teen representative to the Parks and Recreation Commission, urged the minimum in surveillance by anyone. "What makes you think we're any less adult than you? Don't you think we can reason?" he asked.

City Manager Gerald Minford pointed out that "the city would be terribly vulnerable" insurance-wise if a city facility was not properly supervised. He said the city already pays $70,000 a year in insurance premiums.

"That's where it (supervision) should stop," said Newton, who said youths wanted a voice in the decision-making regarding the facility.

Pacifica Rejects Apartment

Pacifica city councilmen rejected a plea last week by Donald S. Kavanagh, representing the Edenvale Construction Co., to make an exception of his 63-unit apartment project, in enforcing the 90-day moratorium on building in the Sharp Park area.

Kavanagh pleaded that he had suffered one delay after another from various city departments and the FHA and that now he was suffering financially, with a realtor threatening to foreclose on him.

The apartment project would be near Ocean Beach, north of the golf course.

Councilman Stan Farher charged that Kavanagh had let lay his building permit for over a month without picking it up from the building inspector. Kavanagh replied that with all his uncertainties, he did not want to gamble the $15,000 cost of the permit if the project would not go through.

"I have already spent over $100,000 getting plans ready," he said.

The councilmen told him that they could not make an exception of one property owner. He claimed that the moratorium should not apply to him since he had started working on the project before then.

City Attorney John Sherman concluded that "He admitted his reasons for failing to pick up his permit. He did not want to gamble $15.000. He lost his gamble for 90 days."

Three public hearings on planning matters were heard with almost no protest.

Councilmen approved new parking design standards (stalls to be nine by 19 feet), minimum size of dwelling units and new building distance.

Only John Geary, who spoke in behalf of the Sharp Park Improvement Club, commented, saying that the club felt that the living rooms provided should be larger.

Until the new ordinance goes into effect, Pacifica is governed by the state law which says that a home must not contain less than 185 square feet. Under the new ordinance, it must be at least 850 square feet—which may not include non-living areas such as halls, closets and garage.

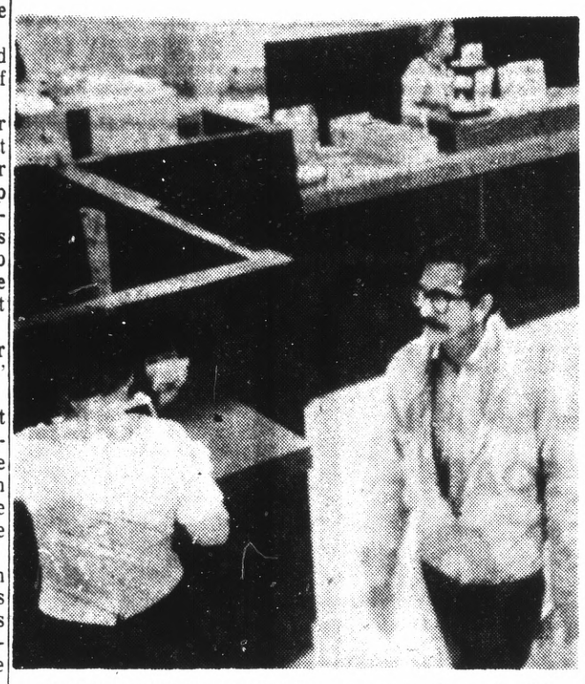
Studio apartments must be at least 450 feet, one-bedrooms, 600, and two-bedrooms, 800. Condominium units would be considered as a single family home — 850 square feet.

The building distance ordinance would govern the distance between various buildings of an apartment complex.

Acting City Manager Dwight French noted that they recently had an application for a home on Pedro Point of 672 square feet.

Mrs. Virginia Jaeger, 396 Mina Lane, protested what she alleged to be the council's practice of allowing Ken Royce or his representatives to appear on the council's agendas as a post agenda item—thus denying citizens who would be interested the warning that they should appear.

Councilman Nick Gust angrily denied any intention on the part of the council to cause such incidents.



BRUNO BANK HOLDUP suspect is shown in this photo taken by hidden cameras yesterday at the Tanforan branch. Anyone knowing the identification of the person in the photo at lower left is asked to call the FBI or San Bruno police. He may be a suspect in a Geneva Avenue bank holdup also.

Bank Bandit at Tanforan Branch

A man described by his victim as being in his fifties, robbed a teller of the San Bruno Tanforan Shopping Center branch of Bank of America of $410 Friday.

Police said the suspect walked up to teller Virginia Ann Rebolini with an empty bag and a note he had scrawled on a pink withdrawal slip with a ballpoint pen shortly after 1 p.m.

Th note said: "This is holdup, have gun, 5's, 10's, and 20's."

The teller's initial reaction was to say to the man, "You've got to be kidding." Police said the teller was reassured by the robber, who simulated a gun, that he was not joking.

According to the police, the man told the teller he had a gun and would shoot anyone who followed him. No gun was ever seen, police said.

Of seven customers who had entered the bank during the holdup, all but one said they didn't observe anything unusual.

One woman said that as she was entering the bank she passed a man who fit the description of the suspected bank robber. He was wearing a khaki jacket, brown pants, standing about 5-11, and weighing 170 pounds.

FBI agents, also responding to the scene, took the film from a camera mounted above the bank's door.

Coast School Board Votes for State Antibusing Measure

By JACK BIK

A confusing debate over school busing — in which both sides claimed to be against racism — marked Thursday night's 3-2 endorsement by the Laguna Salada School Board of the Wakefield anti-busing initiative.

The endorsement was voted in response to a proposal of the San Bruno Park School District that such endorsement be voted at next Thursday's meeting of the San Mateo County School Boards Association.

However, Board Chairman Wilbur Frye noted that in view of the vote he would report the trustees as voting as individuals.

Dale Buettgenback introduced the measure to adopt San Bruno's resolution and Lee Rieweerts seconded it — over strenuous objections from trustees Sidney Lorvan and Anita Heyman.

Mrs. Heyman claimed that the initiative would tie the hands of the board should they choose to use busing to integrate schools in Pacifica in future years. She denied that the Bagley Bill and racial balances which the initiative repeals — says anything about interdistrict busing.

"This isn't a neighborhood school initiative," Lorvan declared "but a segregation initiative."

He claimed it would actually encourage racial busing because it would leave no other plan available.

Frye asserted that he was for school busing — to equalize educational opportunity, for children who have special educational needs.

"Busing for racial balance, however, would not bring it about," he asserted.

Buettgenback declared that the Bagley bill would eventually bring about interdistrict busing and that the trustees would not be able to stop it.

"I have no desire for our youngsters to be bused out of the district," he asserted.

A woman in the audience claimed that a masterplan called for racial busing within Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo counties. Frye, however, asserted that he had conducted an intensive search and never found any such document.

There was less debate over another recent bill — the Stull bill, for teacher evaluation. Supt. James Brien presented a 125-page book he had compiled on guidelines by which to evaluate teachers.

"It is important to go over our school goals at the school level," he told the board, explaining that he was seeking to involve the parents at each school as much as possible in setting goals.

Fast Work by Policemen

Brisbane police Thursday arrested a San Francisco youth driving a car that they alleged had been stolen hours before in San Francisco — before the car had actually been reported stolen.

Charged with car theft, and a host of traffic offenses, was Philip Miles, 19, San Francisco.

Brisbane police observed the car coming off Bayshore Freeway onto Old Bayshore near the Sierra Point Curve, making an illegal U-turn over the double line, and heading north into Brisbane, on the wrong side of the road.

When police stopped the car, they questioned the youth, who had no driver's license, no vehicle registration. On checking with San Francisco police, they found no report of the car being stolen. It was found to belong to Rod Graffi, 44 Cervantes Street, who had — it turned out — called in the news of the theft but had not yet been interviewed by police.

When Graffi arrived at Brisbane to take back his car, he reported camping equipment and keys missing.

Bruno Wage Pact Stalls

There remain three areas of dispute between the public works and library employes and the city of San Bruno, according to Peter Manion, city employe union representative.

Manion said the employes are unhappy with the duration of the contract, salary increases and fringe benefit increases.

He said that this does not necessarily mean that adjustments must be made in all three of these areas. "Adjustments in one or two could bring a settlement," he said.

Manion said he would be submitting one more written proposal to City Manager Gerald Minford "at the invitation of the city."

At this point there are no new meetings scheduled between the two factions. They did meet earlier this week at which time Minford offered a "slightly different" offer than the one that prompted the employes to seek and obtain strike sanction. That offer was "unanimously" rejected.

According to Minford, the union had been offered the same 3.7 per cent salary increase that the city's firemen settled for.

New Emporium's Teen Board

The Tanforan Emporium has selected its Teen Board members, who will serve as a liason between the store and the teenage population in each community.

Each girl serves as a special envoy from her school and her town, and takes part in a variety of retail related and community activities during her year of membership.

The Tanforan Emporium store will open September 28 in San Bruno.

The Teen Board advisor in each store selects the girls from those who are nominated by their high schools on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, poise, personal appearance, as well as enthusiasm and interest in her community as well as retailing. The girls must be entering their Senior year in school.

All of the girls participate in monthly meetings, and at least one community or charity project. They participate in special activities in the store including fashion shows, informal modeling, act as hostesses and participate in other special events.

At the monthly meetings the store provides instruction in merchandising through career speakers, grooming workshops, and modeling and fashion instruction. The store also employs Teen Board members for additional sales staff where there are student openings available.

Teen Board representatives who have been selected for the Tanforan store are as follows:

Capuchino High School: Terry Lavagnino

Crestmoor High School: Carol Tonini

El Camino High School: Margaret Levens

Jefferson High School: Teri Jackson

Mills High School: Lisa Donati

Oceana High School: Melanie Nunes

Serramonte High School: Ann Gressani

South San Francisco: Diana Elli

Terra Nova High School: Sue Pelz

Westmoor High School: Suzy Pratt

Senior advisors: El Camino High School, Janet Mylnar; Serramonte High School, Bunnie Davis.

All 12 girls will be acting as hostesses on the day of the new store's opening to assist customers in introducing them to the new store, according to Pam Degenhardt, Teen coordinator.

These Teen Board girls can be recognized working in the store wearing this fashion outfit: Plaid trouser pants, with a white patterned shirt, and a corduroy blazer, which are all from our Hi-Shop. Just Imagine the Beautiful Things This Custom Quilted Sofa and Loveseat Can Do for Your Living Room!

Any living room (even one a bit on the humdrum side) will take on fresh importance with these custom quilted traditional pieces dominating the scene! You'll find that a really sumptuous sofa and loveseat like these are a splendid focal point around which to create an entire decorating scheme. You may be astonished at the wonderful difference the sofa will make when used all by itself when positioned precisely as you want it in your home. Then plop down on the thick dacron and foam cushions. You'll marvel at the deep down comfort. This comfort is the natural product of carefully balanced pitch and generous quanities of foam and cotton padding lavished over the quality kiln-dried hardwood frame.

Examine this masterpiece in detail and you'll discover the kind of mastercrafting detailing usually found only in pieces costing many, many dollars more. Under the seat cushions where lesser sofas use low grade linings, you'll find the seat deck is upholstered in the same fine fabric as the rest of the piece. Select from five hand-guided custom quilted floral print fabrics, quilted on foam, to give it a pouff effect, adding more detail and 3-dimensional beauty! The lined, scalloped over lay skirt will always hang straight — always look fresh and neat. The wood trim that covers the back and the wings adds just the right accent to the wood furniture that surrounds it.

The longest journey begins with a single step, they say. Make your first step toward a more beautiful home than ever with these American Traditional pieces. Resolve now, today, to see it in person here at Westlake Maple Shop. Then just imagine what this sofa and loveseat (and a little Flair) can do for your living room.

Every year Parents Without Partners (PWP) sponsors the SOS Program as a community service to help people in this communities who are going through the trauma of divorce, widowhood, or separation. The SOS Program serves more as a yellow caution sign than a stop or go in its message to the public.

The first of the lectures is October 4 and will feature George Corey, attorney and Mayor of San Bruno, as guest speaker on "Married Today, Single Tomorrow — Legal Aspects."

Mary Beth Lichtenberg Says Vows

Honeymooning at Lake Tahoe before establishing a residence in San Francisco are Forrest John Ericksen and his bride, the former Mary Beth Lichtenberg.

The couple was married at Lakeside Presbyterian Chapel in San Francisco Sunday afternoon. Dr. Roe Johnston conducted the one o'clock rites which were followed by a reception at the Colma home of the bride's father, Remy Bley Lichtenberg.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ericksen Jr. of San Bruno.

A long white lace dress was worn by the bride when she said her vows. Her bouquet was arranged with white daisies.

DC 'Neighbors' Seek 'Food Bank'

Something new in Daly City is Neighbors In Need, a group of community persons hoping to establish a food bank for families in emergencies.

At present 16 families a week may receive food on a referral basis. Referral groups include various churches of Daly City, Social Service Department of Mary's Help Hospital, and others.

Neighbors in Need not only hopes to provide food to the hungry, but create public awareness that there are hungry people in Daly City and as a community we can do something about it, according to a news release.

Mary's Help Hospital has donated the use of a room which to be the central storage area. The program has been presented to, and endorsed by North County Mental Health Citizens Advisory Board, Fr. James Moher of St. Andrew's Church, the Rev. James Current of United Methodist, and Pastor A. Polster of Hope Lutheran Church, Fr. Thomas McElligott of OLPH Church and Marge Bradstreet, president, NAACP, Daly City.

Public assistance provides for survival existence (not everyone who qualifies for food stamps can afford to buy them, it was asserted).

Are you in the mood for a little nostaglia? The members of St. Andrew's parish, feeling an urge to enjoy a bit of the fun, style and music of the 1950's will stage a era of the fifties dance in the St. Andrew's Center on September 29, according to Mrs. William Holland.

Dancers want literally Rock Around the Clock on the 29th, but they may feel they have slipped back 20 years when they see one another with bobby sox and scarves in their hair and see the ever popular DA hairstyling of the "boys" with hair enough to affect the sleek and wet look.

Mrs. Holland, the publicity chairman, reports that there will be contests and surprises as well as a variety of prizes. A very special award will go to the party goer who arrives with his-her original high school student body card.

The chairmen of the event are Mr. and Mrs. John Carberry and they have announced that dancing will begin at 8 p.m. and end at 1 a.m. Tickets, costing $1.75 per person, may be purchased following all masses on Saturday and Sunday. Further information about the dance and tickets may be obtained by calling 992-1799. Proceeds from the dance are earmarked for the St. Andrew s Parish building fund.

YOUNG SALESMEN and salesladies from Holy Angels School's fourth, fifth and sixth grades may be ringing your door bell these days as they begin their annual drive to raise money for the Holy Angel's school fund.

Mrs. Nemer Gonzalez is the chairman of the chocolate sale which began on Friday.

Special prizes are being awarded to the school's super salespeople, according to Mrs. Terry Lagomarsino, of the Holy Angel's Women's Guild.

In addition to having an interest in the children's campaign to sell chocolate, the members of the guild are busily preparing samples of their own artistic skills to be exhibited in the Holy Angel's Parish Wide Art Fair which will be held on October 13 and 14.

Mrs. Lagomarsino reports that Mrs. James Pretti is the chairman of the two-day show which will be held in the parish hall. Hobbies and art work will be displayed and some items will be offered for sale during the exhibit.

Additional information about the show may be obtained by calling Mrs. Pretti, 756-9013.

According to the president, a contest will begin tonight to see which member can accomplish the most in the area of self improvement. Judging will be by the entire membership with a May deadline for each member accomplishing her self-established goals.

In addition to the theme introduction, tonight's meeting will deal with the overall agenda for the months ahead, money raising projects, and a Father and Children Bowling Day. All members are asked to attend and be on time, Mrs. Burke said.

Damien Switchboard To Train Its Volunteers

The Damien Switchboard, Daly City, needs volunteers to man the 24 hour telephone service.

Applicants may go in person to 45 Southgate Ave., Daly City or telephone 992-5600.

Applicants should be prepared, according to Director Sparky Harlan, to:

—Take the 12 hour "Initial Training Session."

—Participate in about 15 hours of "On The Phone Training" if accepted for telephone staff.

—Commit themselves to a four hour telephone shift per week, when training complete.

—Attend two, 2-hour staff meetings per month.

The next "Initial Training Session" will start in late September and covers presentation by professional people of material relating to switchboard calls as well as participation by trainees in role play, in the following subject areas: Orientation to Switchboard; Crisis, Suicide Prevention, Depression; Mental Health, Runaways, Sex Oriented Calls, Drugs, Venereal Diseases, Communication Skills.

The "on the phone training" covers detailed practice in use of resource files and office equipment and about 15 supervised hours answering phones. When trainer and trainee agree training complete, trainee takes his-her own shift.

The director said ongoing training continues at the bimonthly staff meetings with speakers from various community agencies-organizations.

Jay Spears of Guadalupe Health Clinic was guest speaker at a recent staff meeting, showing the informative 10 minute film on clinic services and then conducting a rap session with switchboard staff on clinic services as they relate to switchboard calls where caller might be referred on to Guadalupe Clinic for help.

Damien Switchboard is a member of the newly formed Peninsula Switchboard Federation, a federation of eight switchboards on the Peninsula whose purposes are to share information among themselves on construction and improvement of switchboards, to establish minimum criteria for responsible service, to increase community awareness of the function and services of switchboards and to deal with matters of responsibility and accountability to communities served.

The Damien spokesman added:

Services fall into three general categories: Rap, referral and crisis intervention.

Some reasons for using a switchboard: There's a very wide range of referral services available (60 index catagories); there is never need to wait for an appointment to talk to someone; services are available 24 hours, seven days a week; there is anonominity (the caller need never be known to the switchboard volunteer and may converse on any subject); some who might never seek professional services may call a switchboard; it's free —no charge!

Damien Switchboard, which opened in February of 1970, is funded under contract by Mental Health Services of San Mateo County and by United Bay Area Crusade.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

One of the many virtues of hamburgers and meat balls is that there are so many simple ways of varying them with seasoning. No matter how often you serve them they never need become monotonous.

Run your eye along your spice shelf and you'll find inspiration for creating an unlimited variety of hamburgers. Add a dash of basil or oregano for an Italian accent; spice with chili or cumin seed for a Latin American taste adventure or with ginger for an Oriental flavor. Lemon pepper and seasoned pepper — offer other possibilities.

For a tasty and attractive main dish, try this herbed salisbury steak.

HERBED SALISBURY STEAK WITH MUSTARD CREAM SAUCE

3 Tablespoons instant minced onion
3 Tablespoons water
2 pounds ground lean beef
½ cup fine soft bread crumbs
2 Tablespoons parsley flakes
2¼ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon thyme leaves
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 egg, beaten
One-third cup milk

Rehydrate the three tablespoons minced onion in the three tablespoons water for 10 minutes.

In large mixing bowl combine the two pounds beef with onion, half cup bread crumbs, two tablespoons parsley flakes, two and one-fourth teaspoons salt, one-half teaspoon thyme leaves, one-fourth teaspoon each garlic powder and pepper. Blend the one egg with the one-third cup milk and add to meat mixture. Mix lightly but well. Shape into 6 oblong patties three-fourth inch thick. Place under preheated hot broiler or over hot charcoal 15 to 20 minutes or until done as desired, turning once. Spoon mustard sauce over each and broil 3 minutes longer.

MUSTARD SOUR CREAM SAUCE

1 teaspoon powdered mustard
1 teaspoon warm water
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 Tablespoon milk
1-sixteenth teaspoon salt

Combine the teaspoon mustard with teaspoon water; let stand 10 minutes for flavor to develop. In small saucepan combine the half cup sour cream and one tablespoon milk; cook over low heat until hot. Stir in mustard and one-sixteenth teaspoon salt. Serve over Salisbury Steak. Serves 6.

Hamburgers are a favorite with young and old, with the added zip of nutmeg these hamburgers are especially delicious.

SUSIE'S HAMBURGERS

¼ cup instant minced onion
¼ cup water
1½ pounds ground lean beef
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
One-eighth teaspoon each black pepper and garlic powder
1 Tablespoon ketchup
3 slices processed American cheese, cut in strips

Rehydrate the fourth cup minced onion in the fourth cup water for 10 minutes. Thoroughly but lightly mix the onion with the one and one-half pounds beef, one and one-fourth teaspoons salt, fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one-eighth teaspoon each pepper and garlic powder — and one tablespoon ketchup. Shape into 6 hamburgers. Broil under a preheated hot broiler, about 5 minutes on each side or until done as desired. One minute before they are ready, top with the cheese strips. Broil until cheese is melted. YIELD: 6 portions.

ANOTHER favorite with most people are frankfurters. This next recipe wraps them in a hot and crusty crescent roll with a cheese filling.

CHEESE 'N' FRANK CRESCENTS

1 can Refrigerated Quick Crescent Dinner Rolls
8 frankfurters
8 strips Cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Unroll dough; separate into 8 triangles. Cut a narrow slit lengthwise in each frank; insert cheese strip in each. Place frank on wide end of triangle and roll up. Place on ungreased cookie sheet, cheese side up. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes, until golden brown. Serve hot.

She Can Speak Of the Blues...

Leave it to a sister to get us through. That would be Roberta Flack, who if anyone, can speak of the blues, she can. But then as Joe Williams said on Saturday at the Monterey Jazz Festival, "the blues is the blues" and let no gender put it asunder.

Things were looking downward this weekend, the fifteenth in over a decade of fine jazz presentations. The crowds continue to burgeon and the vibes remain cool but the lineup of performers, despite the enthusiasm and hard work of general manager, Jimmy Lyons, has become safe, sure and predictable.

The essence of jazz is experimental and individualistic. It is an element that transcends the imitative and automatic time measure of rock, country, western. You should never be able to determine what will happen and evolve out of a Monterey Jazz concert, any five of them that take place every year at this time. If you can't predict the weather, why the music?

But everything went according to somebody's schedule this weekend and the result was "swell but so what." You could have been as easily on the outside of the stadium sitting on the grass as sitting in the second row for all the excitement that went down. Until Roberta, that is.

For an annual event that is so anticipated by so many at so high a price (tickets, food and lodging for two with waits, disappointments and harassment is easily $150 a couple) finally "got it on" with the essential Quincy Jones' big band, his Bobby Jones on trumpet and Ray Brown on bass and the mellow Miss Flack at microphone and piano. It was late in the three-day event, but it was welcome and unforgettable.

I wasn't surprised, having witnessed their impact at Circle Star Theater together last year. And all of those who'd heard or seen that phenomenon were there to repeat the experience.

The fairgrounds was baptized in fire and nothing short of a hailstorm would have dampened the excitement and enthusiasm these two musical giants created. Toots Tillman on harmonica could have carried the show alone. His musical and vocal support couldn't be surpressed. And joy flowed everywhere.

Saturday night is normally the big jazz turn-on. But even the elusive and almost legendary Theolonius Monk on piano couldn't pull all the stops out of an all-star lineup that included Art Blakey, Clark Terry, Kay Winding (the only white man in the musical contingent), Al McKibbon, Sonny Stitt and Roy Eldridge.

They are giants, and they played as such, but it had a higher than average but less than knockout effect on the audience who had earlier taken for granted the artistry of Mary Lou Williams (unexciting), Herbie Hancock and his new Septet (swinging but unmoving) and vocalist Joe Williams (a class unto himself but maybe overexposed to jazz festival audiences).

The near capacity crowd's attention waned halfway through the Saturday night program and never got back on the main line enough to give Miss Williams her due respect. Drunken detractors were at their verbal high point from the boxes during her reign.

The power and impact of television surely played a role at Sunday's early evening show since Quincy Jones is a composer of film and television scores that have penetrated our subconscious more than we realize. His driving orchestral themes give us a security and identification with hearth and home that pulls a crowd shouldered together under the night sky into comfortable harmony.

And then Miss Flack chanted "Reverend Jones" (one of her best known recordings) across the footlights and blood pressures and paranoia shot through a sea of unbelievers until the spirit caught on and they were up and screaming at her perception.

The best of Monterey in these 15 years has been instant communication and familiarity hasn't a thing to do with it. Dizzy Gillespie added his most worthy notes to it but when an artist or a set "hits you where it hurts . . . in the soul," the cause of music, notably jazz, and the reason for congregation is crystal clear.

Those nights seem fewer and fewer at the Monterey Jazz Festival. "Walkin' in Space" by Flack and Jones and supporters and the piano lady's new "Mr. Magic" were worth waiting through prior concerts.

It used to be that way every night. The price of success seems to be repetition and predictable programming. It may just force real jazz fans back into the nightclubs and bars to catch the elements of surprise and individual expression between an artist and his listener on a one-to-one basis. Hope it flowers in the Bay Area before it buds elsewhere.

Variety of Activities

During the summer months, I was extremely impressed with the variety of recreational activities offered by the Daly City Recreation Department for both children and adults.

I have asked Katherine Bradshaw, recreation supervisor, to review the highlights of the summer program for 1972.

The summer of 1972 was a particularly busy one for the Daly City Recreation, Parks and Maintenance Department, under the direction of Charles E. Vincent, with the opening of 25 playgrounds, 10 activity-packed weeks got underway. The neighborhood programs were highlighted by bus excursions to Marin Town and Country Club, Lake Temescal, Knowland Park Zoo, Angel Island, Lake Anza, Fairyland, Giants Baseball, and Searsville Lake.

The "World-Games" provided the perfect closing note for the playground program. Playground rivalry was high, but F. D. Roosevelt emerged victor in the Second Frog Jumping Contest. Winning parade entries included Westmoor Park, Iur Lady of Mercy, Westlake Park, and Daniel Webster. Events of the day exhibited great action in the greased rope pull, the equestrian contest, sack races, log rolling, water melon eating, and broom hockey.

The well-attended culminating event came to a close when more than 700 children received ice cream, provided by the First National Bank of Daly City, before boarding the buses for home.

TEENS WERE BUSY during the summer months with participation in the Junior Teen Softball Tourney and fun-filled trips to Marin Town and Country, Santa Cruz Beach and Board Walk, Turtle Rock Ranch, and Fremont Central Park. The Senior Teens co-sponsored the Linda Nelson Memorial Concert featuring the "Hill Gang" and "Hummingbird."

Daly City was well represented with three performances at the San Mateo County Fair and Fiesta. Our presentations included the Civil Ballet, the Gymnastic Team, and the Adult Community Chorus. The Gowen brothers were awarded a second place ribbon in the junior talent contest.

The athletic program included baseball, bowling, softball, basketball, tennis, gymnastics and judo. Honors were brought home when Eddie Brown, nine years old, became the U.S. Junior Judo champion and the Daly City girls' gymnastic team soundly defeated the San Mateo Recreation Department team in a dual compulsory meet.

Cultural activities enjoyed the addition of three pilot programs which were very well received. The "first-times" included the film making and media workshop, Design Craft, and Classical Guitar. Ceramics and design students proudly displayed their finished projects at the Westlake Library.

THE SUMMER of 1972 came to a close with four creative and colorful public events which provided a great deal of enjoyment to those in attendance.

Under the direction of Ron Wells, the Summer Music Theater presented eight performances of "Oliver!" based on the original works of Charles Dickens. The talented cast and crew of more than 60 elementary students and young adults spent their summer exploring the fascinating world of dramatics. The results were great with outstanding performances given by Colen Price, Boyd Thompson, Michelle Raymond, and Carmel Lundstrom.

Not to be out-done, the dance and gymnastic program also presented noteworthy public performances. Some three hundred ballet and tap students joined a record audience of 900 in a musical tour of "Candyland" and the "four seasons." Kay Farrell and Diane Simmons instructed the program. "Gymnastic Circus" was presented by the students of Kristen Olsen and Lois Kwan.

The children presented three rings of fast-moving gymnastic skills. The audience was particularly appreciative of the Swedish Gymnastic numbers.

The guitar hootenanny drew a very interested crowd and filled the Corral Room of the War Memorial Community Center to overflowing. Bunnie Gregoire, instructor, directed the program and led the crowd in a "sing along."

WELL, THAT was the summer of 1972, and all in all it should be considered a tremendous success.

James Halley

The Screw Is Turned Tighter

One week ago this column wrote of the likely continuance of terror. This week, it appears that the screw has been turned tighter, and the prospects of terrorism subsiding are even less than before.

The dangers and significance of such violent acts are not, as yet, fully understood. Large scale bombings, hijackings, and slaughter by gunfire and grenades can change civilization as we know it. This is because the graceful and decent things about living in a densely populated socitey are fragile indeed. One sharp blow and they tend to shatter. Consider, for a moment, the effect of the Munich guerilla foray on the Olympic Games. A single senseless raid has led many to advocate discontinuance of the Olympics, and one of the hopeful things in the world community is under ominous challenge.

Think of the power such attacks might have over other institutions. What if, for one reason or another, terrorists chose to assault churches, synagogues, schools, hospitals, plays, operas, symphonies, art shows, football games, etc., etc., etc.? At a minimum our freedom in using and enjoying them would be restricted.

In this nation we have already seen what violence can do. Many of our public buildings, including courthouses, are under guard. The cost of air safety is paid in delay and inspection of persons and baggage. While we have not closed down courthouses and airports, we have placed onerous conditions on their use.

Reaction to danger will inevitably result in closure, or restricted, or reduced usage of physical facilities and institutions. In each instance, civilization as we know it will have changed and the lot of mankind generally will be poorer.

We should, of course, weep for innocents who die or are injured as the result of such barbarism. But we should also lament the concurrent increase of terrorist activity and depression of the fundamental freedoms and values of modern society.

Widespread continuance of assaults upon and slaughter of innocents will result, what is more, in changes in the form of governments. If there is another Olympics, housing and games will be controlled, of necessity, in a much more restrictive manner. New murders on buses, in homes, airports and public buildings cannot help but result in more authoritarian regimes. Men will seek and vote into power leaders who promise safety ahead of all else but food.

The past week was not a good one for civilized man. A band of Yugoslavians hijacked a plane in the week's major overt act. More dangerously, the rhetoric that inflames such insanity continued: in this nation, William Kunstler encouraged more riots, hostages and Atticas. President Idi Amin of Uganda applauded Hitler's massacre of Jews, and innumerable world leaders continued the language of hate and fury.

Mankind is rightly fearful that present tensions could result in open warfare. We have yet to fully perceive that we are at least equally endangered in another way. Mounting terrorism and violence could result in a measurable and enduring decline of that part of the good side of man known as civilization. It would be overstatement to claim that we are plunging toward a new dark age, but we are headed presently for days of fear, assault, murder, kidnapping, reprisal, restriction and authoritarianism that could certainly be labeled, as a gray age, a condition that should be avoided at all costs.

Answer Is 'Yes'

Bay Area Rapid Transit trains, at long last, are off and running.

The initial runs are confined to the East Bay area where the new service brought enthusiastic response and, what is more important, drew standing-room-only commuter patronage in the first days of scheduled operations. The complete 75 mile system utilizing the under-the-Bay tube to San Francisco and Daly City will not be fully operative until mid-1973, but the beginning has been auspicious.

Barring any repetition of the ill-luck that dogged BART for so many years, the first commuter acceptance points toward a positive answer to the most often asked question, "will the commuters use the new facility?"

The answer appears to be an emphatic "yes!"

Frank LaPierre

'The Dirtiest Election Year'

POLITICAL NOTES — We said it earlier and we'll say it again: this is the dirtiest election year in our memory. The Democrats on a national level (that would be George McGovern and The President, formerly Richard Nixon) are charging and countercharging wrongdoings in the campaign contributions department, while the slipper seems to be on the other foot on the local level.

AS AN EXAMPLE, Congressional GOP candidate Charles Chase is going after Democrat Leo J. Ryan in the money department, noting certain inconsistencies in declarations made to federal and state agencies on monies received. Ryan compares Chase's charges to a person running down an alley upturning garbage pails.

"I can't spare the time to pick up the garbage spread by Chase. I'm too busy going after the real issues," Ryan says.

IN THE ASSEMBLY race, recalled San Bruno councilman Ted Long, a practicing attorney, has been tossing brickbats at Daly City Councilman Lou Papan over contributions made to the Papan people by alleged "special interest" groups. The latter includes $200 from Henry Doelger, $200 from Crocker Land Company, and a like amount from Pacifica Councilman Nick Gust.

Interesting to note is the fact that these "sizable contributions" are considered standard political handouts by those involved. Papan has maintained silence concerning Long's charges for some time. But this week he told this column, "Perhaps my opponent's vote can be bought for $200 from some contributor, but mine can't. I don't sell out to any person for any amount of money."

ON THE SUBJECT — Doelger (as we announced some time ago) has sold out and will make formal declaration of same at a press luncheon later this week. Operational manager of the far-flung building enterprise is Edward King. From his Daly City offices, King made it known the Papan contribution is "standard" and that "there are no strings attached."

Gust's reaction to the campaign contribution was slightly more vigorous, when he was contacted earlier. He said Papan was a "lifelong friend" and that "I fail to see what good Papan could do me, personally, in the Assembly." Gust pointed out that whatever he desired to build in Pacifica had to come before that city's Council and Planning Department.

IN A COUNTER BARRAGE, Papan pointed up what he called "Long's changing tunes." At one meeting, Papan charged, his opponent supported regional government, "while in a recent press release he supports 'independence' for Broadmoor Village. What does he stand for?" Papan asked.

AFTER BEING ACCUSED by a San Mateo City letter writer of helping Papan smear Tony Governale's good name during the primaries (the writer kept calling me "Mr. La Pair," albeit I've been called much, much worse) I cautiously point out that at a recent luncheon meeting with Long the "Regional Government concept" was forwarded to us. However, Dear Reader, we want you to know these are not "inconsistencies" on the part of Mr. Long, they are what some call "today's politics." We've got other names for it!

JUST READ WHERE the San Mateo City council reopened hearings to CUT the 1972-73 budget. This is bewildering news — not the fact that the council reopened the budget talks, but that they needed more than two officials to take action. In the Jefferson Elementary School District it takes only TWO trustees, James Cranna and Albert Collett, to cut back the general tax rate.

REMEMBER THE STORY about the top brass in the JESD — namely superintendent Frank L. Greenwood, and assistants Roger Barthuli and Dr. Vint Stratton — who were so darn busy, what with all the work piled on them by the Board, they just couldn't possibly use their vacation time? Well, folks, in their graciousness the trustees (in a split 3-2 vote) voted to buy back some of that accrued vacation time to the tune of some $4,000. Within days, Greenwood went on vacation, with his new found "bonus" check in his hands, and now associate Barthuli is in Spain. No time?

THE SHADOW KNOWS that the superintendent of the JESD (who shall remain nameless) has put his house on the shopping block . . . About those spiffy credit cards being handed out to JESD trustees signed by Classified Personnel Director David Pia. The cards are good for, get this, Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom Club. All together kiddies: M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E.

HANG ONTO THOSE wallets, people. The school year has just begun and already the JESD Personnel Commissioners are starting their freewheeling conference tours around the state. The first leg is Morro Bay, where we hope the food prices are a little more in line than they are in the Monterey area. You do remember that $51 check submitted by one personnel commissioner for lunch and dinner, don't you? Talk about eating high off the hog.

PARTING SHOT at the JESD administration — Superintendent Greenwood informed the trustees some weeks ago that the meet and confer obligations spelled out in the Winton Act (not to be confused with some of the other entertainment that goes on in the district should be turned over to professionals. The firm of Public Labor Relations Inc., made up of David Friedenberg, Ray Vetterlein and Gene Aiello got the job. That doesn't mean much unless you recall recent statements made by Mr. Greenwood concerning the controversial fact-finding report submitted after months of finding facts by a three member panel composed of a teachers' representative, a district representative and a third party agreed upon by the previous two. Mr. Greenwood pointed up the trio's lack of expertise in the school education field, specifically problems facing the JESD, in his response to the report.

PUNCHLINE: Ray Vetterlein was a member of the fact-finding committee that said all those nasties about the district.

WE WERE DARED to show our "bigness" by putting in this column the name of the winner (low net) in last week's D&J Golf Safari held at the Nugget in Sparks, Nevada and hosted by local business partners Dino Donati and George Johnson. We have always attempted to bring our reader(s) impartial news coverage and in the heat of excitement at the two day tournament we agreed to include the winner's name herein.

A few days at the Nugget, caught up in the glitter, the excitement, the brotherhood of friendship extended by such great people as general manager Pete Carr, makes mere humans such as myself (talk about humble) promise weird things. But on returning to home and hearth we had a frank and open discussion with the "real me" on the subject. Me and Me agreed the golfing at Lakeridge and Washoe was fantastic, that the food at Trader Dick's was sheer ambrosia, and our every whim was met with a smile by the Nugget folks.

But to publish in Our Column the name of Ron Bates — NEVER!

Le Pacini

Controversial Rulings

We hate to sound like a nationalist, or ethnocentrist, or whatever the proper euphamism for when you feel very paranoic about what people are trying to do to your country, but has it by any chance occurred to you that it was no coincidence that every negative decision in the past unlamented Olympic Games dealing with a controversial ruling went against the United States . . . that is was all a vast plot to sabotage U.S. athletic supremacy? And could it be that Hitler IS alive in Argentina, plotting with Stalin, who is also alive in Argentina.

What the IOC did to Rick DeMont was a shame, but what they did to Vince Matthews and Wayne Collett (we won't even mention the basketball thing, because we don't want to throw up on our new typewriter) was beneath contempt.

We don't condone what Matthews and Collett did, but we think the punishment would have been more fitting to the crime by perhaps submitting them to a swift kick to the rear end from Dave Wottle (before he lost his kick) rather than lifetime suspension from the games.

WE'VE ALWAYS been under the impression that it is every American citizen's right to disrespect his flag as long as he doesn't desecrate it. What business is it of the IOC if American citizens choose to act like jerks in the face of their flag? If the IOC were totally logical in fact, they would lift Wottle's Gold for failing to remove his hat during the playing of the National Anthem. Then, too, neither runner admitted to an intention of disrespect or protest, although Collett did admit that he hadn't stood at attention in front of the American flag since he was a child, for many reasons.

Now, all of this raises three interesting points: (1) If both runners say they meant no disrespect, who is to dispute them? Or are we dealing in Thought Control? Short of submitting them to lie detector tests the only avenue open would have been to give them a hearing — but then hearings, we assume, are not arbitrary enough for the IOC. Or perhaps not in the best interests of the Olympic Ideal.

Second point: The IOC contradicts itself when it punishes two athletes for their actions "against" country, because according to the Olympic ideal the athletes do not represent their country, but themselves; are there for their own glory, not as Americans or Russians, but as brothers. In other words, the IOC punished Matthews and Collett for showing, according to the IOC's own "ideals," disrespect to themselves!

Third point: If all American school children from about the seventh grade on were suspended permanently from school for not properly saying the Pledge of

Slow Pitch Loop: Fight for Lead By 12 Contenders

The Adult Slow Pitch Softball league, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, moved into its sixth week of action with 12 teams still battling for the championship in four leagues.

In the Pacific Coast league, the Round Table Knights are holding on to a one game edge over the Blankers who continue to win after an opening game loss to the Knights.

In this week's action the Blankers took Longs Drugs, 11-2. Ed Hallet and Tom Viscusco hit homers for the Blankers and Roscoe Brownfield went 2 for 3.

Larry Di Vito threw another outstanding game for the winners.

Melody Toyota rode over the World of Carpets, 14-5. Hector Gonzales led the Toyota Attack as his bat literally sang the blues for the Carpetmen. He had a single, double and homerun to go along with four R.B.I.'s. Rich Birgil, Tom Gigliotti and Rich Piepmeier all had 3 for 4 for Melody Toyota.

The Round Table Knights continued their winning ways with an easy 20-7 win over the hapless Nomads. J & J Plumbing snaked their way to a 7-6 win over a tough Western Dental Team.

The Odd Squad pulled out a sneaker over the Baders Jewelers team, 3-2. With the score tied in the last of the seventh, tall Paul Phalen gave his all with a shot up the middle. He then tagged up and went to second on a short sacrifice fly and came home on a clutch single by John Cannon, to give the verdict to the Odd Squad.

Gem Meats chewed up Able Building who could not construct an offense by a final ccunt of 9-1.

Ron Judge homered for Gem Meats and Jerry Schaffer played a good game for the Gem Meats team as it finally climbed into the win column.

The Pomona Casuals with back-to-back singles by Mike Fellman and Carl Campos 1-0 win.

The Sluggin' Fools downed the Soul Patrol, 10-8, in a contest that saw Jumpin' Joe Skaar and Downtown Don Carter hit circuit shots for the Fools.

Warrior Win Is Deceptive

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

South San Francisco High School's Warriors may be on the verge of another sterling season but the verdict may not clear up for another few games on the Industrial City eleven.

True, the Ray DeJong-coached lads came through with a 32-0 whitewashing of Crestmoor on Friday at Clifford Field, but the Falcons have been picked by many to finish last in the Mid-Peninsula League while the Warriors have been tabbed champions up north.

True, again, that SSF was up 26-0 by halftime and had an apparent letdown in the second stanza scoring just six points.

True, ditto, that the defense chalked up another shutout with excellent work from veterans Lynn Simmons and Jeff Funcke in the interior line.

But, believe it or not, the offense remains the question mark for the title-hopeful Warriors, defending NPL champions.

In quarterback Rhod Wallace they have one of the headier, all-around signal callers, a good passer and runner, but the Warriors lack the breakaway halfback and powerful, bone-crunching fullback of past years.

It was poise and experience that stood South City in good stead last night plus that strong defense that stopped the Falcons with a six-yard total until the subs took over and allowed one more yard.

Thwarted at every angle on the ground, John Browne sent in the aerial part of his offense and throwers Dennis Lufrano and Chuck Chavez did the best possible job under heavy pressure.

Fullback Dave Isham croke clear early in the first period for a 27-yard romp up the middle and Wayne Munoz broke for his first of two scores on passes from Wallace when he hauled in a quick three-yarder right over the middle. Rob Goldtein swept right for the third score and Munoz ended the first-half carnage by snaring a 10-yarder from Wallace.

All in all, the Warriors took to the air 19 times, which in the past has been a seasonal total rather than a game total. This could be a portent of things to come this year.

Crestmoor's defense began to assert itself in the second half. The Falcons do have a pretty good thrower in Chavez, an adequate runner in big Moses Kafusi and end Dave Kichter can catch with the best around. It's putting it together that may spell trouble in '72 for Crestmoor.

Isham, who broke for two long runs, ended up the leading ballcarrier with 62 yards in just six carries. Wallace, accurate in key spots, found his mark six of 13 times for two touchdowns.

A South City team aerial-minded? Almost unthinkable five years ago but, as many have said, times do change.

But the new LTD is more than just quiet. It is well made from its power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic transmission, standard equipment, to its luxurious, comfortable, roomy interior. There are 16 new Ford models to choose from and each will convince you that quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

Ford, the company that built the first basic, solid, reliable car seventy years ago—has built today's basic, solid reliable car: Pinto. It's become America's top selling economy car for more reasons than economy. Here are some of those reasons: A 1600 cc. engine developed and perfected in over 10 years of actual driving. Rack-and-pinion steering. Solid welded body, electrocoated to fight corrosion. 4-speed transmission—lubed for life. Everything we've learned in seventy years of car making—all the basics—we build into every Pinto Wagon, Runabout and Sedan. When you get back to basics, you get back to Pinto.

Allegiance or showing "proper" respect during the playing of the National Anthem in the school auditorium, half the secondary schools in the country would be empty, and we'd be a much more ignorant society than we already so often are.

IF THE OLYMPIC officials made one smart move during the idotic fortnight of the Games, it was to continue them after the massacre of the Israeli athletes. Again, three points to consider in that matter:

(1) Suspension of the games would have been to submit to blackmail.

(2) It would have been unfair to the athletes who had yet to compete. Most of them had worked and sacrificed three and four years for a few moments of glory, and to allow a small group of fanatics to make that all meaningless would have been shameful.

(3) It would have been the crowning hypocritical act of Olympic officials to call off the games because of bloodshed, when there never has been an Olympic meeting when blood wasn't being shed somewhere in the world. Perhaps games shouldn't take place when people are dying, but if you're going to start them, you should finish them. Or as some sage must have said at one time or another, if you're going to be wrong, be consistent. At least that has some merit.

OF COURSE, much controversy could have been avoided had we sent our best athletes to the Olympics, which was not the case because of some ridiculous qualifying practices in this country which do no allow for bad luck or past performances.

We won't go over the old ground of the great track and field men, for example, who were left home, but it became obvious as this Olympics wore on that the only way for Americans to win was to win big, avoid anything close. We might have won big in several events had our best men been allowed to compete fairly.

Qualifying in the future should be done the way they do it in pro golf. If a golfer, for example, wins the U.S. Open, he doesn't have to qualify the next time around. He's in it automatically. It seems to us that if a man holds a world record or is a former Olympic medal winner, or has in some way performed outstandingly in the past, he should automatically be on the team, unless he's, say, 45 years old and won the 1500 meters in 1948.

By the way, since urine tests are given only to the top three medal winners, we suppose that that is the IOC's way of saying that it's OK to take drugs if you're a loser.

One last Olympic note: If Erich Segal qualifies as an expert commentator on long distance running, then Jim Ryun should write a love story.

WHILE WE'RE still on international sports, the way that series of hockey matches between Russia and Canada has gone thus far once again proves our theory that all-stars don't necessarily equate with success. Canada may have all of the stars, but the Russians have been playing together for years, and teamwork — and conditioning — is showing.

MISCELLANY (As space permits): The new artificial surfaces may be better on football players' knees, but we wonder what's causing the outbreak of shoulder separations. Could it be that the new surfaces are too hard to go tumbling on?

Boxing facts you may not have known: Bob Fitzsimmons, the old-time middle, light-heavy and heavyweight champ, had cavities in his teeth just like you and me. The difference is that his were filled with diamonds.

It's well known that John L. Sullivan swizzled brandy and water between rounds, but not so well known that Madcap Max Baer also did on more than one occasion — although we might have been able to guess it.

QUICK QUIZ: (1) Who won the 1904 World Series?

(2) How could you beat a man in a race if you finished next to last and he finished second?

Answers: (1) Nobody. There was none because of a disagreement over gate splits between the National and American Leagues, which had inaugurated the first World Series in 1903. Needless to say, they settled their differences, resumed play in 1905, and haven't missed one since.

(2) You finish first in a two-man race.

TAG END: If you need further proof of National League superiority, look no further than Detroit's left-handed pitcher Woody Fryman, a late season acquisition from Philadelphia who has virtually held Detroit in the pennant race with nothing but two and three hitters. His record with the Phillies at the time of his departure? A sparkling 4-10 with a 4.35 ERA and three complete games in 23 starts.

Rams Defeat Lowell

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

Hope erupted like Old Faithful for Westmoor High School last Saturday at the start of a year that was predicted to be nothing short of a disaster for the Rams.

Pete Matisi's team had lost virtually all its offense and a majority of its defense and was relying on a sophomore group that had run up a 1-8 record last year. It didn't look good.

But what was left — halfback Nick LeBlanc and fullback John Hart — made things a lot brighter as that pair led Westmoor to a 17-0 upset over Lowell High School's Indians in San Francisco.

Had not the Rams thwarted a few of their own drives with penalties and blown plays the 7-0 halftime score could easily have been 21-0. But the Rams weren't greedy. They settled for Chuck Collondrez' 65-yard fumble recovery in the first period for the lone touchdown.

Turnovers were the Rams' biggest asset all day. They scooped up three of the four Lowell fumbles, intercepted three passes and generally made life miserable with a ground-oriented attack which was devastating in the second half.

Westmoor even came up with another in the long line of soccer-style kickers the Rams have been noted for these past years. Miguel Paz connected on a rainbow-like field goal from the 20 (which actually had to travel 30 yards and hit the left goal-post on the way down) to finish the day's scoring.

Westmoor's second series after intermission netted them the second TD. Ken Dempsey recovered a Lowell fumble on the 23 and four plays later LeBlanc ambled in from the six.

In another North Peninsula League practice meet Serramonte's Regents fell prey to Montgomery's aerial antics, 28-6, with the lone local score coming on Cornell Williams' 54-yard pass reception from Tom McLaughlin in the final period.

What Caused Jet to Crash?

By GEORGE GOLDING

Salvaging equipment stood by TWA's damaged 707 cargo jet on Thursday while Captain Richard C. Bogatko told federal safety experts that he had aborted his Wednesday night take-off because the plane was not accelerating properly.

So far, there is only speculation as to the cause of the crash. According to figures reported by the airline, Captain Bogatko's plane was well below its allowable maximum gross weight for take-off.

The runway, although it is not the longest available at San Francisco International, is used by hundreds of planes per day for successful take-offs.

Remains of shredded tires were scattered down the runway for more than 1500 feet, but no-one officially knows whether the tires were ruined in a blow-out before the aborted take-off, or whether they came apart as Captain Bogatko and his crew tried to brake the speeding plane.

At least one engine was shattered, but reportedly there were no metal parts scattered along the runway, and only a suggestion that the engine might have blown up during the take-off run. Eye-witnesses commented that it could just have easily blown apart when its red-hot metal parts came into contact with the cold Bay waters, long seconds after the pilot decided his plane would not fly.

There are rumors that members of the crew reported "hearing an explosion," but there is no confirmation of this.

Whatever happened, it occurred at just about the point where Captain Bogatko's 707 crossed the "hump" where Runways One, and Runways 28, intersect. From that intersection on, Runways One seem to sag ever so slightly toward the Bay, and for Captain Bogatko, his crew, and his cargo of lettuce, it was downhill all the way.

While investigators probed the cause of the costly accident, a Bigge crane was being assembled at the edge of the Bay, to hoist the ruptured 707 from the mud and waters.

Airlines officials expected the plane to break in two, when the lifting started. Already the split around the fuselage, just ahead of the wing, seemed to be opening with the action of the tide.

As Bay waters rose, they filled the Boeing's cockpit, and the cabin, loaded with 81,000 pounds of cargo, including 26,820 pounds of strawberries and 15,912 pounds of lettuce.

When the waters receded, they revealed that at least one of the aircraft's four jet engines, was badly damaged, either before the take-off was aborted, or during the crash that followed an unsuccessful attempt to halt the plane.

Tattered metal from the Number Three engine, the inboard jet on the right side, poked into the air while TWA mechanics donned their scuba suits for voluntary sessions as salvage experts.

Vern Johnson, 45, of Santa Clara, an electro-service engineer with TWA for 10 years, and Fred Hersey, 29, of Fremont, and Airframe and Powerplant mechanic with the airline seven years, dived into the murky waters to investigate. They were also expected to help the Bigge crews pull the plane from the water, by wrapping pushing cargo hoisting slings under the broken fuselage.

Meanwhile, Captain Bogatko was being interviewed by an investigative team headed by John Sahaida, sent out by the

(Please See Page 32, Column 5)

National Transportation and Safety Board, a division of the Department of Transportation which takes over jurisdiction from the Federal Aviation Administration, when an aircraft accident occurs.

With Captain Bogatko were his crew members, co-pilot Taylor H. Sanford, 39, of Kinnelon, New Jersey, and flight engineer Stephen L. Phillips, 30, of Enfield, Conn. All three had been rescued from the crash within minutes after the crash, by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Airline spokesmen commended the Coast Guard on the rescue.

"Our guys had popped into their life raft, but they were only in it a minute or two when the Coast Guard 'copter arrived and plucked them out," said Jerry Cosley.

As he spoke, Shell Oil company fuel trucks pumped 16,000 gallons of jet fuel from the plane's wing tanks, helping to prevent Bay pollution, as well as lightening the plane so it may be lifted.

Hoisting is expected to start this afternoon, after the National Transportation and Safety Board team gives permission to move the smashed plane.

Already the probers have noted the length of its skid-marks, and have checked gouges in the paving.

"The plane was down on the rims of two wheels," when it went off the end of the runway, said Ivan Stracener, of the NTSB team.

After leaving the runway, the jet plowed across a few hundred feet of grass-covered airfield, slammed into the cobbled rip-rap edging the Bay, and slopped into the water.

It was turning right as it skidded, away from the landing lights pier extending from the runway centerline. One wing-tip was embedded in the lighting pier.

A small bit of fuel spilled into the Bay from that break, said airline spokesmen, but a Shell Oil crew surrounded it with a plastic flotation boom and contained the spillage.

Damage to the 707 can only be estimated, but it is an older plane and is expected to be "written off" rather than repaired.

Bruno Shop Center Rezoning OK'd

While many residents debated on trees, San Bruno's council Monday night approved on a 4-1 vote the rezoning of 10 acres of the planned Bayhill shopping center from commercial to planned development.

Councilman Neil Christal voted against the approval based on what he considered inadequate road width (60-foot is planned) and not enough open space.

Residents in the audience appeared not to be objecting to the rezoning per se. They were concerned about the fact trees are being bulldozed in apparent wild abandon.

Developer Louis Douglas, from Los Angeles, pinned down with direct questioning, agreed to bring in a tree specialist and report back to the council on the health of the trees.

Several residents claim that nearly 50 eucalyptus trees along San Bruno Avenue, east of Cherry Avenue, are dying. They wanted to know whether these trees could be saved, and if not, whether they would be replaced.

Councilman Tony Governale asked Douglas if he could prepare a report stating exactly how many of the trees presently standing would remain standing after the project is completed.

"That would be difficult to determine," said Douglas, referring Governale to the landscape plan that had been presented to the city.

He said he has $23,000 invested in an irrigation system and with that and a tree specialist it was hoped that all trees could be kept alive.

In a report to the council, City Manager Gerald Minford said there is "nothing improper" in the action by Douglas in removing the trees. "The trees that have been removed are within the street right-of-way," said Minford.

Resident Sylvia Gregory pointed out that the concern of many of the people is that the trees (some having bases with a diameter of from 22 inches to 84 inches) serve as an excellent wind break.

The area that was rezoned is bounded on the north by Bayhill Drive, on the east by Cherry Avenue, on the west by Interstate 280 and on the south by San Bruno Avenue.

Planned is a regional shopping center that will include a supermarket, drug store, restaurant and various shops.

Two other rezoning issues concerning the Bayhill project had to be dropped because the council had failed to act on the matters within the legally prescribed 60 days.

$5,000 Fire In D.C. Home

Fire struck a city-owned home located next to the Daly City City Hall, Friday, causing $5000 loss.

According to Daly City firemen, the occupant, O. Ikeda, was working in the garage at 7:50 p.m., when the fire apparently broke out in the living room. He evacuated his wife an son. Firemen report that the contents of the living room were a complete loss. In addition, the home sustained extensive smoke damage.

2 Pacificans Die Of Monoxide Fumes

Two men were found dead in a car shortly before noon Sept. 11 in what Pacifica police believe was probably a suicide pact.

Found dead were Charles Adamson Montgomery, 47, an assistant engineer for the City of Pacifica, and John Robert Riedinger, 49, who works for a San Francisco Title company. Both live at 14 Cragmont Court, Pacifica.

The two apparently died last Friday of carbon monoxide poisoning, from fumes of the car, parked in the closed garage of their home. Their bodies were in the rear seat.

Police found a "last will and testament," written by Riedinger leading them to believe the death to have been suicide, Pacifica officers said.

Peninsulans Earn Merit Scholarships

Approximately 15,000 of the nation's most academically talented high school seniors, including 46 in San Mateo County, have been named semifinalists in the 1973 National Merit Scholarship competition. They will compete for some 3000 merit scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1973.

The semifinalists received the highest qualifying scores in their states on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test which was given last October to over one million students in about 16,600 schools nationwide. They constitute less than 1 per cent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States.

Semifinalists must advance to finalist standing to be considered for the merit scholarships to be awarded next spring. Semifinalists become finalists by receiving the endorsement of their schools, confirming their high test performance on a second examination and providing information about their accomplishments and interests.

Winners of four-year merit scholarships may receive up to $1500 a year for four college years, depending on their individual need. Winners of the National Merit $1000 Scholarships will receive their nonrenewable one-time awards after they enroll as full-time students in accredited U.S. colleges or universities.

High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities and extra-curricular activities of the finalists are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting merit scholarship winners.

NMSC identifies the semifinalists to all regionally accredited colleges and universities and to certain agencies that provide financial aid. Many of the semifinalists receive financial aid from sources other than the merit program.

The semifinalists of Northern San Mateo County, by high high school:

Westmoor (Daly City) — Ingrid R. Sausjord.

Half Moon Bay — Carl A. Lundgren.

Mills (Millbrae) — David C. Feix, Ann Marie Ziomek.

Oceana (Pacifica) — Michael G. Bevington.

Terra Nova (Pacifica) — Lisa J. Savage.

Capuchino (San Bruno) — John F. Kruidenier, Jack M. Wilson.

South San Francisco — Blaine M. Bartell.

Pacifica Woman Is Burned

She went to answer the phone, and the drapes behind the telephone burst into flames

That's how Cecelia Ann Trimble of 1688 Rosita Road described to Pacifica firemen how her home caught fire on September 12.

The phone is located in the corner of her living room. When the drapes caught fire, she pulled them down, they landed on the floor and caught fire to the couch and stuffed chair.

Suffering from first and second degree burns on her side and on both hands, Mrs. Trimble gathered up her two daughters, Deborah, 9, and Cindy, 7, and dashed out.

Pacifica fire investigators were still probing the cause of the fire today and did not have an estimate of the damage. However, firemen apparently saved the home from major structural damage, although considerable damage was incurred from smoke, as well as to furniture.

Freeway Not Wanted?

Montara and Moss Beach residents generally don't want the proposed new Cabrillo Freeway as it is planned, a July opinion survey of 200 families in the area shows.

The survey, by the San Francisco-based Market Tab Research Co., was released this week. It was sponsored by the Montara-Moss Beach Improvement Association.

About half the residents polled said they didn't want the freeway as planned, about a third said they did and the rest were unecided or had no opiniion.

The freeway has more than local public opinion going against it. A federal court in San Francisco stopped further work on the 6.9-mile Devil's Slide bypass section and set September 27 for hearing on a possible preliminary injunction to stop it further. Conservation groups asked for the injunction, charging the four-lane route would be environmental overkill.

Survey workers asked residents why they felt as they did about the freeway plans, which would four-lane the Coastside route from Pacifica to Half Moon Bay Airport.

Thirty-eight per cent of those opposed said they disliked the concept of the freeway, with 18 per cent saying it would bring more people and more development. Another nine per cent cited the harm the freeway would bring to the natural beauty of the area.

But many objections 22 per cent, were about specific elements of the plan and not about the concept. Ten per cent said the bypass right of way didn't have to be eight lanes wide and nine per cent said the location or design of off ramps is not good.

Among those favoring the freeway, the reason most often mentioned was that the present Devil's Slide road is dangerous.

Twelve per cent said this.

Saving traelvel time over the hills was mentioned by six per cent, weekend crowding was referred to by five per cent.

Long-time residents, those in the area for over four years, appeared to be more favorable to the freeway than late comers, with 45 per cent of the long-timers making favorable remarks about it, cepared to only 28 per cent for more recent residents.

Sixty per cent of the newcomers were unfavorable in their remarks, while only 49 per cent of the older residents were.

The survey showed also that younger residents, under 30 years old, had been in the area less than two years and those over 30 have been around an average of nine years. As a result, younger people and newer residents seemec to have the same negative feelings about the freeway.

Coast School Population Shows Slump

Laguna Salada School District's 15 schools lost about 300 students from last year. Supt. James R. Brien reported to trustees Thursday night.

Opening day enrollment Monday came to 8305, compared to his 8310 projection. The second day it rose to 8330, and he expected it to grow 8350-8360 through September. Three years ago it tallied 9350.

"We can breathe a sigh of relief," he told the trustees. "Our ADA (average daily attendance upon which state subventions are granted) is holding up."

He noted that a few minor school housing problems have shown up throughout the district, mostly on the kindergarten level, where it is a bit harder to predict enrollment. Cabrillo had 40 students for one kindergarten teacher, while Pedro Valley had 65 "loaded for two teachers." As a result, seven Rockaway and three Pedro Point children will be bused to Vallemar Monday, where there are 43 children for two classes.

Similar trades will be made among other schools. However, he promised that later this school year, a committee of parents will be appointed to study future enrollment, and new subdivisions, create a new masterplan to avoid changing attendance boundaries too often. The kindergarten classes average for the 28 kindergarten teachers is 29.3 children.

He said that problems in "back of the valley" — the Park Pacifica area where many problems have shown up in past year, are being taken care of all right by such trades.

In answer to questions from trustees, Brien reported that Laguna Salada District now has some 30 empty classrooms, scattered throughout the district.

Shirt Tail Now Serving Luncheon Saturdays

With Stanford football beginning, you can almost make the plush Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto, your one-stop headquarters on Saturdays. It is open for lunch on that day, serving delights such as their Fresh Mushroom three-egg Omelettes and Crab Salad, a meal with greens, hardcooked eggs and asparagus. Afterwards, their cocktail lounge is abuzz with fans and Valerian and Steve Situm entertain long into the night with piano, guitar and vocals. The restaurant is on El Camino, just south of the campus . . . The Greenwillow dining room, located just off the lobby of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in downtown San Mateo, is recommended to the budget-conscious who still insist upon top quality. Here's what you've been asking for: By popular demand Chef Tom Delano, who is ever mindful of the educated appetite, is now serving his popular Prime Rib dinners at $2.95 three days a week (Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays), instead of the usual two. Breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus are always available, with service from 6 a.m. to 8:45 p.m. Something else very special is The "Greenwillow Dry," which is a martini made with lovin' care. The "jumbo size" is served from a pitcher right at your table.

STREAMLINED PARKING — Women's Lib has come to Valet Parking for the first time at The Fisherman in Burlingame, and everyone loves it. Pretty, long-stemmed beauties greet you in their attractive costumes and park your car. Here, a couple of them take charge of managing partner Richard Patane's sleek Continental Mark IV.

Special Attention, Beefeaters

First-time patrons at the Iron Gate in Belmont are always pleasantly surprised at the moderate dinner prices; complete dinners start at just $4.50, and a la carte entrees from $3.75. And if the prices are great, the selection is better: Choose from tantalizing continental dishes like Fettuccini Alfredo and Grenadine of Beef. If you're a confirmed beefeater, you will be happy to learn that the Iron Gate serves some of the best steaks and prime ribs in the Bay Area. . . . The Paul Verzosa Trio will play your request numbers while you enjoy cocktails in the cozy lounge at the Costa Brava restaurant. Dancing is featured on Friday and Saturday nights. Luncheon and dinner service, with a panoramic view of the San Francisco skyline. Two banquet rooms are available for group parties. . . . Don Dianda is being congratulated by many dinner regulars at Doros in San Francisco for having been named as tops by Holiday Magazine for the 11th consecutive year. . . . The cocktail hour at the House of Troy is a tradition with people from all over the Bay Area. Owner Sal Campagna is your genial host, and makes his patrons feel most welcome. It's no wonder this San Carlos restaurant is one of the most sought-out dining spots on the Peninsula. Open everyday for cocktails and dinner; luncheons served Monday through Friday.

Vince's Noonday Luncheon Specials

Each noonday (Monday through Friday) Vince's Seafood and Italian restaurant in San Mateo features a luncheon special (in addition to the regular menu), and the portions are enormous. For those who wish to unwind over a cocktail before sitting down to a big meal, there's a comfortable cocktail lounge adjacent to the restaurant. You might even want to help yourself to the hors d'oeuvres, which are offered from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. nightly . . . The luxurious Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco, is a popular dining spot for out-of-town executives Seen dining here the other night: John W. Wells, assistant vice president of the Seattle First National Bank.

Illuminated Sea Frontage At Nick's

Nick Gust can well be proud of his three restaurants in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica — The Papagayo Room, where gaily costumed waitresses serve authentic Mexican dishes to patrons who fancy candlelight dining amidst Mexican decor; The Moonraker, which features entirely different cuisine — Continental in style, and a nautical theme throughout the tiered dining room and lounge; and Nick's Restaurant, where early breakfast gets as much food play as luncheon, dinner and banquets. An extra added feature is the Steve Romano Combo playing music for listening and dancing in the cocktail lounge Wednesdays through Sundays. When dining at Nick Gust's restaurants after sundown, you can enjoy the illuminated sea frontage, with white caps breaking ceaselessly over the sand. It's all very romantic and a pleasant way to relax . . . It looks like George 'n' Teddy have found a home! The fabulous entertaining duo, now appearing at Whiskey Hill in Burlingame, continue to pack the club during their Wednesday through Sunday stints. Owner Pete Brallier has decided to extend their engagement indefinitely.

Frere Jacques is one of the few restaurants in that area offering a cocktail lounge . . . For a fabulous evening of entertainment and dancing on a stainless steel dance floor, Stuart Anderson's Black Angus restaurant on Ninth Avenue, San Mateo, "is where it's at." Bright Day, a spirited group which has stolen the hearts of countless Peninsulans who frequent this Black Angus Country restaurant, play music for listening and dancing that perfectly complements the Las Vegas type stage . . . Russell Reed, one of the versatile entertainers in the colorful revue at Finocchio's, has revived an old Fanny Brice number, "I Work Eight Hours," which brings big applause. One of his surefire numbers is the oldie ballad favorite "You Gotta See Your Mama Every Night, or You Won't See Mama At All" . . .

Congregation B'nai Israel to Welcome Holiday Succot

Following the conclusion of the High Holy Days, Congregation B'nai Israel will welcome the festive holiday of Succot (The Feast of Tabernacles) with services that will begin September 22 at 8:30 p.m., followed by the First Day of Succot services on Saturday at 10 a.m.; Eve of the Second Day on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and the Second Day of Succot on September 24 at 10 a.m.

The services will be conducted by Rabbi Sheldon Edwards who will be assisted by Cantor Henry Greenberg.

Succot is one of the most delightful of the Jewish holidays. It is a harvest festival and one of three festivals known as the Pilgrimage Festivals. Jewish farmers, in ancient days, would bring gifts from their harvest to the Holy Temple in Jerusalem.

The use of a Sukkah, the small hut or booth which is built temporarily outside of synagogues and many Jewish homes, gives this festival the name The Festival of Booths.

The Jewish farmers lived in these booths when they worked in the fields to harvest crops. From olden days to the present, special ceremonies take place utilizing the "Lulav," a palm branch to which are attached three myrtle twigs and two willow branches and the "Etrog" which is a fragrant citron. Succot is a seven-day holiday to which has been added an eighth day of Solemn Assembly known as Shemini Atzeret and a ninth day, Simhat Torah, Rejoicing in the Torah.

The young people of Congregation B'nai Israel have built the traditional Succah on the Temple grounds and an evening to decorate has been designated.

The event will take place on September 21 at 7:30 p.m.

The children of the congregation are particularly encouraged to attend and all, young and old alike, are asked to take fruits and vegetables indigenous to the land of Israel with which to decorate the Succah. Leaves will complete the foliage.

Following the Succot Service on Friday night, the Oneg Shabbat (social hour) will take place in the Succah and will be hosted by the Mmes. Ronald Cohn and Julius Michaelis.

Rabbi Edwards extended a particular invitation to the community at large to witness and participate in the festivities.

Congregation B'nai Israel is located at 1575 Annie Street (corner Washington) in Colma.

CHP Aids Child's Birth

Jack Daniel Brown was expected, but not so soon.

The 7-pound-7-ounce son of Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, of 620 Second Ave., San Bruno, arrived at 11:47 p.m. Sept. 10 in the back seat of a California Highway Patrol squad car.

Mrs. Brown, who celebrated her 24th birthday Tuesday, said she was "pretty proud" but doesn't remember too much because "I was flat on my back."

The proud bricklayer father now has two sons, with 2-year-old Charlie Brown gaining a brother.

"My poor husband," said Mrs. Brown. "He kept saying 'we'll get there' (to the hospital) but I told him the baby was being born."

That trip to the hospital had been mentally rehearsed many times, and even experienced once. But when the couple began the real trip to the hospital, it was soon evident birth was imminent.

Traveling south on El Camino toward Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame, Brown hailed CHP officers Curtis Sveum and Michael Gomez.

They radioed for an ambulance. But Jack Daniel wasn't about to wait for it.

"I would never have believed it," said Mrs. Brown. "I've seem it on T.V., and neard about it. But I'd never really believe it could happen to me.

"I thought there was plenty of time. But it went pretty fast."

Low Bid For Bruno Catch Basins

The Lowrie Paving Company on a low bid of $3,950 has been awarded the contract for installation of catch basins at three different sites in San Bruno.

Included in the bid is a budgeted $1700 for constructional work at Seventh Street and Angus Avenue, a flood spot during rainy seasons.

At the urging of Councilman Neil Christal, staff was instructed to determine the feasibility of having other entities, such as PG&E and the City and County of San Francisco, who utilize

Two Youths Held After Stealing Coast Sloop

Two teenaged runaways were apprehended on the high seas yesterday morning after they had allegedly stolen a 25-foot sailboat from the Santa Cruz Yacht Harbor and were casually headed for their home in Alameda.

The sloop was found by a Coast Guard cutter as it was drifting off Pigeon Point at 10:45 a.m. yesterday. A freighter had spotted the boat the night before and had informed the Coast Guard.

The youths reportedly had stolen the boat last Friday and were going to Alameda to "get food and water and put back out to sea," according to Sheriff's investigators.

Coast Guardsmen boarded the boat and found a 13-year-old girl and her 16-year-old boy friend asleep in sleeping bags.

The sloop, owned by a Saratoga man who didn't know it was missing, was towed to Pillar Point Harbor.

The youths were taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall where they were booked on suspicion of possessing stolen property and grand theft, and for being runaways.

They had been missing from their homes in Alameda for several days.

STICK 'EM UP—"Cowboys wear chaps so they don't get holes in their pants and make their mothers mad," said Joseph Witherspoon, left, of Burlingame, to Shannon Rhoades, also of Burlingame. The two tried out costumes they will wear in the 1972 Grand National's "Littlest Cowboy" contest October 14 at the Cow Palace. Prizes will be awarded to the best dressed, most freckled, tallest and shortest entries. Girls and boys three to ten years old may enter by writing to Contest Manager, Cow Palace, P.O. Box 34206, San Francisco, 94134. Entry deadline is midnight, Wednesday, October 11. The Grand National Livestock Exposition, Horse Show, and Rodeo will be held October 27 through November 5.

Contract Let For El Camino

The award of a contract for installing a storm drain system along a half-mile section of El Camino Real in Redwood City was announced today by James A. Moe, State Director of Public Works.

The project limits will extend between just south of Route 114 and 0.4-mile northerly.

W. H. Ebert Corporation and Spartan Construction Corporation of San Jose submitted a bid of $191,012.30.

Burlingame Youth Held

An 18-year-old Burlingame youth was arrested yesterday on charges of firing a BB-gun at smaller boys in Mills Canyon.

Richard N. Spence, 18, 2981 Arguello Drive, was released on his own recognizance, after being booked at 6 p.m. Police said he was arrested after neighbors complained of someone shooting a BB-gun at children playing in the Mills Canyon area.

One boy, 14, said he had been hit in the arm, and another told police a BB had hit a fence near his face.

Coastside Leader Gives Up; S.M. 'County Not Helping', Charge

A Coastside schools and agricultural leader and member of a family prominent here 85 years in litestock and field crops, has told the County Board of Supervisors they are throwing in the towel and that he intends to get "as far away from this county as I possibly can."

Norman Sousa charged that the supervisors have opened up the coastside area "to a horde of reecreationists that is trampling the grass, trees and wild flowers into dust.

"The trespass, vandalism, rubbish problem, lack of water and sanitary facilities and destruction of state and county-owned parks and beaches go on," Sousa said.

Sousa, who is a member of the Federal Conservation Agency for this county as well as a school trustee, attacked the action, or lack of it, of the county manager in a number of areas.

"You let the county manager deny that the Board of Supervisors has any responsibility," Sousa said . . . "It seems to me that your county manager has been quick to criticize the Governor and the state for the lack of support in the health and welfare fields. He has done nothing to stop the fantastic growth of welfare and cost of government in San Mato County.

"Are you people so blind you cannot see this?" Sousa asked the trustees.

"Your county manager and some of the board have stated that you have no responsibility in water development.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," Sousa said. "Your land use policies as well as land acqusition by the county have created the distorted land tax problem in the Coastal area . . ."

Discussing the effect of turning loose the recreationists without providing water and sanitary facilities, Sousa said, "your solution is to acquire more land for parks so that there can be more priceless natural resources ruined by people erosion."

Of the manager, he said, "stop listening to all his excuses and tell him to solve the water problem now."

Of the charter amendment which would provide money over a period of years to buy more park lands, Sousa declared: "Do not put the charter amendment on the November ballot to increase our taxes ten cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation under the guise of conservation of open space.

A San Bruno Party: 9 Held

San Bruno police Thursday arrested nine persons attending a party at the Place Apartments, 1125 Cherry Avenue, Apt. 119C.

Booked were:

Charles Gregory Miller, 29, at whose apartment the party was being held; Patricia Ann McCoy, 42, of Pedro Point Trout Farm, Pacifica; James Conrad Sewell, 35, of 156 Monticeto, Pacifica;

Judith Irene Hill, 35, of 1199 Park Pacifica, Pacifica; Charles Ross McCalment, 24, of 1125 Cherry Avenue, Apt. 101-H, San Bruno; Robert Allen Bullock, 22, of 859 Montezuma Drive, Pacifica;

Barbara Lynn Wolner, 27, of 1125 Cherry Avenue, Apt. 101-H, San Bruno; Jean Kathryn Collins, 23, of 15 Salada Avenue, Pacifica; and Donna Rae Tiery, 22, of 115 Alta Vista Rd.; Woodside.

All except Miller were charged with being in a place where narcotics were being used. Miller had additional charges of possession of marijuana, possession of narcotics paraphernalia, and keeping a place where narcotics are used filed against him. And police said Sewell was found to have $73 in outstanding traffic warrants issued against him.

Miller, Sewell and McCoy were booked in lieu of $315 bail. Police said the others were released on their own recognizance to appear at 9 a.m. October 2, at North County Judicial Court in South San Francisco.

Police responded to the apartment after reports of a "loud party."

Stull Bill Discussion in Millbrae

Discussion of the Stull Bill, under which all teachers, principals and administrators must be evaluated, occupied most of the discussion at the September 11 meeting of the Millbrae School District Board of Education.

The bill stipulates systematic evaluation procedures be applied to all positions requiring certification.

One person will make a written report to the evaluatee, who will sign it. Should disagreements develop during the evaluation conference, they can be resolved in the district grievance policy.

Regarding a self-evaluation form which pertained to aspects of the school administration, board member Dr. Larry Foster said he felt an individual might be hesitant to put himself in jeopardy by completing and signing the form.

Dr. Muehlhausen said that it can be a strategic tool by which the teacher and principal can work together, as they do on other issues.

Mrs. Doris Brown remarked that there might be divergent points of view, one being fearful and defensive, and the other honestly expressive.

Dr. Muehlhausen said the evaluation offered an openness between teacher and principal that would resolve any ego threat that might exist, and grant the teacher an opportunity for expression.

The evaluation would include classroom observation, work with pupils in outdoor activities, and participation in curriculum development, in addition to sharing in sponsorship of student activities and participation in faculty committees.

Dr. Foster suggested the possibility of having the questionnaire anonymous, and including a question as to whether the writer had achieved his goal during the term.

Dr. Muehlhausen said it was hoped that implementation of the Stull Bill would eventually prove to be for the benefit of the district, and that it would fit in with evaluations already in effect.

It was decided that the questionnaire would be revised, and brought back for further study, so that when it is put into effect it will reinforce the rapport now existing between teacher and administrators.

The busing question also came up, with a father protesting have his small daughters trudge up the hill at Tuolumne Road.

D.C. Youths Arrested

Two 16-year-old Daly City boys were arrested on charges of burglary and robbery on Friday.

According to Daly City police, they were tracked to the Fort Funston area of San Francisco with the assistance of San Francisco's police helicopter.

Report that Robert Glaser, 22, 882 N. Mayfair, returned home at 5 p.m. to find his dog unconscious on his living room rug. He then confronted three youths in his home. They knocked him to the ground and escaped with a half-dozen loaded handguns and miscellaneous jewelry.

Royer Aides Claim Many Officials Are in His Corner

Many city officials throughout San Mateo County are backing the election of William H. "Bill" Royer as county supervisor at the November 7 election.

To date, almost 50 Mayors, Councilmen, City officials and School Board members have accepted membership on the Royer for Supervisor Committee and are actively working in his behalf.

Paul Keckley, mayor of Redwood City and co-chairman of the countywide Royer for Supervisor Committee said that many of the city officials have worked with Bill in both public and private sectors and know that his 18 years of experience as mayor, vice-mayor, city councilman and planning commissioner, have shown him to be a leader aware of county problems and an ability and desire to do something about them.

"The fact that Bill Royer will devote full time to the job is a big factor," said Keckley, "Bill is an independent candidate who can represent the entire community and is not the representative of any special interest group."

Royer was high man in all 19 incorporated cities of San Mateo County and had a wide margin of 24,367 votes over his nearest opponent. There were four in the race in the primary.

Included among the city officials backing Royer are:

Daly City — Paul M. Hupf, McRobert L. Stewart, and City Treasurer Tony Zidich;

South San Francisco — Mayor F. Frank Mammini, William A. Borba, Patrick E. Ahern and Gordon T. Boblitt;

San Burno — Neil J. Christal and John A. Barnard;

Millbrae — Mayor Bernard Esser, William C. Glang and former long time Councilman and Mayor James O'Connor;

Burlingame — Mayor Victor A. Mangini; Irving S. Amstrup, William J. Crosby;

Pacifica — Harland F. Minshew;

Brisbane — Dr. S. J. Guardino.

Airline to Hire 800 New 'Stews'

Although new jobs have been scarce in the airlines industry for some time, Pan American World Airways is expecting to hire some 800 new steward or stewardess trainees this year.

Pan Am will have two recruiters in the San Francisco Bay Area, Karen Deas and Carlyle Henry.

The airline is especially interested in hiring members of minority groups for this glamour profession, said airline spokesman Ted Bache, and both interviewers are blacks.

$8,500 Fire At Home

Fire striking a South San Francisco home at 1:38 a.m. on Saturday caused an estimated $8500 damage, according to South San Francisco firemen.

A neighbor called in to notify South City firemen that the home at 621 Larch was on fire. Firemen found the home vacant — except for a big St. Bernard who reportedly sought shelter in the shower.

Owner Jerry Cotter was away. Mrs. Cotter was at work and the children were at a babysitters. The kitchen was badly burned as well as the front room, with heavy smoke damage throughout the house, firemen report.
